Almost 150 dogs removed from home

BY DOUGLASS HUXLEY For The Dominion Post

PARKERSBURG The Parkersburg Humane Society is working to care for and rehome 146 dogs after they were removed from a residence Wednesday evening.

"I would like to say, I don't believe it was at all intentional," Gary McIntyre, executive director of the shelter, said. "It's just unfortunate that none of the animals were spayed or neutered."

LOCAL BUSINESS

Wolf excited about leadership role at paper

BY JIM BISSETT

JBissett@DominionPost.com Candace Wolf, The Dominion Post's new general manager, has an abiding respect for deadlines.

She was making them for publication, in fact, while she still had a curfew.

That was at John F. Kennedy Catholic, the elementary and middle school she attended in her hometown of Washington, Pa.

There, she helped start the school's newspaper, JFK Today. It wasn't long before the kid and once-and-future media practitioner found herself with a substantial beat carrying a plum placement. "I was in charge of the teacher profiles," she said.

"I can't quite remember my first byline, but the profiles always ran on the right-hand side of the front page.

Later, she was back again in those familiar classrooms and hallways, as a new teacher.

And a lot of her old teachers were still there.

"Well, that was interesting," she said. "It was a full-circle thing.

Full circles are what Wolf's story is really about.

HEALTH 186,500 syringes distributed in eight months

BY BEN CONLEY

BConley@DominionPost.com The numbers almost require a double take.

In 243 days — from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31 — Milan Puskar Health Right's LIGHT program distributed 186,580 syringes.

They were passed out to 545 unique individuals across 1,364 total visits.

That number breaks down to about 767 needles a day, or, per capita, that's just over six syringes for every person living in the city of Morgantown.

And while Health Right is certainly passing them out in quantity, they're getting the overwhelming majority of them back — about 94%, or 175,573.

That's up from the 79% return rate in 2023.

"We are happy with the way

cers handle complaints and investigate any cases of potential cruelty, neglect, abuse or just to do welfare checks. He said two officers responded to a request for a check at a residence near City Park. He said the officer initially believed there might have been 30-40 animals in the household and requested backup to help transport them to the shelter.

"So we sent a couple of staff, and the van, and loaded up a bunch of crates, thinking, we're going to get 30 dogs in," McIntyre said. "Shortly after the staff got there, the 30 became 40. The 40 went to 50, and it kept going up to 60. And finally, by the end of the night, when the last load got here at almost 7 (p.m.), there were 146."

McIntyre said the ages of the dogs ranged from a few days old to around 10 years of age. He said many of the dogs appeared to have never been outside the home, as they seemed disoriented when they were brought out into daylight. He said the shelter did not find any serious medical conditions among the dogs initiall y, but they did treat them for

Additionally, the law mandates syringe service programs provide additional harm reduction services, require proof of residency and account for each syringe distributed under penalty of fines.

Along with the data, Jones arrived with a desire to refute what she calls the "myths" of harm reduction.

"Everyone thinks it causes or increases drug use. This is not true. No one comes to us and says, 'Hi, I think I want to use, can you give me some syringes?' Jones said. "The people who come to our program have been using for a long time and they are interested in taking care of themselves and

Coming home

When The Ogden Newspapers purchased The Dominion Post last month, Wolf's name quickly rose to the top to lead the publication.

By then, she had logged nearly 27 years in newsrooms at the Observer-Reporter in her Washington hometown – she began her career there writing obituaries - and at the Daily Mining Gazette in Houghton, Michigan, where she most recently served as editor and publisher.

While she's still getting to know Morgantown, she's also very familiar with the region.

As she puts it, being a Pennsylvania western native, right next door to north-central West Virginia, has a way of doing that.

"I've had plenty of experiences up and down the I-79 corridor," she said. "This is the same place. One big neighborhood. It really is coming home."

And coming home is about more than just working in the region it's about becoming part of the greater Morgantown community, becoming part of the greater West Virginia University community.

Wolf has already moved into Monongalia County and looks forward to getting involved in the local scene. She also is working with the newspaper's account executives to find ways to add value to the newspaper's business partners.

For Wolf, being put in charge of The Dominion Post means becoming fully ingrained in the reof reminding folks of the newspaper's 148-year history of chronicling the events and people of this region — and assuring them that will continue.

She's up to the task.

Family, personal and professional

She and her husband, Damian, were high school sweethearts - and their two grown children still live in Pennsylvania.

So does her dad, in Washington.

Wolf stayed in the Keystone State for college, earning undergraduate and graduate degrees in English education and organizational leadership from Mercyhurst University, in Erie.

Those fledgling forays in journalism on the staff of JFK Today would come to define her career.

At Mercyhurst, she ran the school's tutoring center and produced a newsletter, chronicling its life and times.

Wolf enjoyed learning things – and then explaining what she learned, by way of the printed word.

She also enjoyed a sense of place. She was an infant in Chicago when a job opportunity brought her family to Pennsylvania.

Her father was in human resources for Bethlehem Steel and her mother became a real estate broker, which, in another one of those full-circle turns, launched her career at the Observer-Reporter.

Narratives, of course, appeal to her English major, storyteller side.

A friend and workplace colleague who knew she grew up with real estate knowledge, soon recruited her for real estate advertising at the newspaper.

That gig got her to the design desk, as a nightside editor.

Wolf's role expanded when Ogden acquired Observer-Reporter, the managing a production team for Washington and Uniontown publications.

Who wants to buy a lighthouse?

Ogden two years ago asked her to assume the publisher and editor duties at its Daily Mining Gazette in Houghton, a picturesque town of 8,500 on the shores of Lake Superior in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Houghton's history was copper mining, which is how the newspaper got its name.

There, the new publisher would wield a pen and reporter's notebook at events when other staffers weren't available.

She became known for her regular contributions that celebrated people and places of the region that's part of Michigan - and apart from it, too.

Wolf wrote about every-which naturally warranted a column.

And her profile and tribute following the death of a kindly church pastor she befriended early on in Houghton: a clergyman who had offered support and immeasurable comfort when her mother had passed months before.

She said she's excited to be working with the Dominion Post's news reporters and editors to ensure stories such as these get their appropriate coverage in Morgantown.

'I read it in The Dominion Post'

Houghton rekindled her fire for community journalism, she said.

Not that it needed rekindling, she's quick to add.

She wants to do the same thing for The Dominion Post, she said – "That means as much local, community content as we can give."

Which means, she said, getting it all on the record and into the pages of the newspaper and on the website, DominionPost.com.

Politicians.

Meetings, moments.

Serious issues, head-on and fun detours, definitely taking the scenic route.

It means, she stressed, attracting a younger readership while continuing to nurture the people who have subscribed to the newspaper for years.

"We have a great community, and we have a great newspaper," she said.

"I'm excited for the future. I want to be able to overhear someone say, 'Oh, I read it in The Dominion Post."

"It takes time. Nobody walks in the door their first night and says, 'I think I'm ready for treatment.' We have to develop a relationship and a rapport with them. It's that relationship that eventually leads them to that request," she said. "We just recently had someone come in who said. 'I'm done. I've had it. This is enough. Get me into treatment.' We did that. That's a success we feel good about. It doesn't happen in Good Health Together, often, but when it does it's a good thing."

OBITUARIES

Robert Donald Martin

Robert Donald Martin, affectionately known as Bob, was a beacon of genuine friendship and heartfelt kindness. Born November 13, 1929, in Morgantown, he departed this world peacefully in his Westover home Friday, November 1, 2024. surrounded by the memories of his cherished loved ones.

Bob's early years in Morgantown laid the foundation for a life marked by hard work and dedication. He turned his talents into a fulfilling 41-year career as a machinist at the Auto Parts Company on University Avenue before serving another two decades at Swanson Industries.

Bob's skilled hands and sharp intellect were not the only gifts he sharedhis spirit of fraternity was evident through his engagement with colleagues and associations over the years.

Family members who had predeceased him include his beloved wife, Monna Martin; his dear sisters, Genevive Mason and Vivian Hoskins; and an infant brother. They now welcome him into eternal rest and reunion.

Uncle Bob had no children, but he and his family lived across the street from Westover Grade School, and with an opendoor policy, were instrumental in the lives of many, many families and students.

Uncle Bob, for many years, had a special relationship with his nephew, Terry Hoskins, and they spent a lot of quality time together. Thank you, Uncle Bob.

Bob's very special nurse, Dolores Choma, provided excellent 24/7 homecare of Uncle Bob and with the assistance of the Amedisys Hospice Group, Bob was comfortable at home when he passed.

To everyone he met, Bob was a very special individual, celebrated for his ability to be a gentle, loving, and kind presence in any circumstance. Remembered as a wonderful example of listening, his honesty and respect touched many lives. He truly embodied the ethos of speaking no ill, living a life so profoundly positive that those who knew him were forever changed. Bob Martin's legacy of warmth will be fondly remembered and sorely missed.

Friends may gather from 4 until 7 p.m. Tuesday, November 5, in Mc-Culla Funeral Home. Visitation will continue from 10 until the 11 a.m. funeral service Wednesday, November 6, with Pastor Kevin Cain officiating. Bob will be laid to rest beside his wife at East Oak Grove Cemetery.

William Samuel "Bill" Arnett, 80, of Cheat Lake, passed away Thursday, October 31, 2024, surrounded by loved ones, in Mon Health Center following an extended illness. Bill was born August 22, 1944, in Morgantown, to the late James and Dorothy Arnett. In 1962, he graduated from Washington Irving High School in Clarksburg, where he was a standout lineman on the football team, an experience that provided lifelong memories.

At Washington Irving he also met the love of his life, Diane Rowe Arnett, to whom he was married June 26, 1965.

Bill graduated with a bachelor's degree from West Virginia University before earning Master's and Doctorate degrees in History from Ohio State University, where he specialized in the study of ancient Egypt.

Bill taught at Bowling Green State University before returning to Morgantown in 1970 to begin a 40-year career at WVU. He taught courses in ancient Greece and Rome, King Tut's Egypt, humanities, women in the Middle East, and the modern Middle East. His thousands of students benefited from his enthusiasm, his genuine interest in their success, and his generosity with his time. He also developed a reputation for being an accessible and thorough academic advisor. During his tenure, he was named and Sciences Outstanding Teaching of the Year, Distinguished Professor of the Year by the Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity, and was recognized as an Outstanding Faculty Member by WVU Disability Services. He also served as faculty advisor for the WVU Kuwait Student Union and was a member of the Mountain Honorary. He retired from WVU in 2010.

Bill made multiple trips to the Middle East to study the region and its culture, and as part of a delegation representing the National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations.

He served for many years on the West Virginia State Archives and History Commission. During the first Gulf War and after 9/11 Bill was sought out by churches, community groups, and local television stations to share his insights on the importance of taking a holistic view of the Middle East and respecting the region's various Bill is survived by his peoples, cultures, and religions.

the WVU College of Arts WVU sports fan, as an Arnett (Angela), of Cheat undergraduate Bill tutored multiple athletes. As a professor, he counted among his students many Mountaineer players as well as future coaches and athletic administrators. In addition to being a football and men's basketball season ticket holder, for more than 30 years he worked as a ticket-taker at Mountaineer Field and the WVU Coliseum.

A lover of music, Bill sang in the choir at Suncrest United Methodist Church, where he was an active member and served on various committees.

He coached youth basketball and soccer, and he and Diane also served in leadership roles with the Morgantown High School Band Auxiliary.

At home in South Park, where he and Diane lived before moving to Cheat Lake in 2011, Bill could often be found grading papers or putting together PowerPoint slide decks for his classes. But he was as generous with his time for his children and their friends as he was with his students on campus. Bill was known for his corny "dad jokes," his willingness to jump into any needed home repair project, his repeated threat to deliver "a three-hour lecture on Gilgamesh," his extraordinary kindness and decency, his unfailing devotion to his family, and his homemade pizza.

In addition to Diane, children, Amy Irons (Craig), Stephen Arnett An avid and devoted (Kimberly), and Jeffrey Lake; grandchildren, Alberto Irons (Maggie) of Bethel Park, Pa., Edward Irons of Morgantown, Aiden Arnett, Emily Arnett, Julia Arnett, and Ava Arnett of Cheat Lake; his brother, David Arnett (Suzanne) of Bridgeport; and nieces Yvonne Arnett and Sherry Gross of Bridgeport.

He was preceded in death by his parents and his beloved in-laws. Chester and Eleanor Rowe, formerly of Clarksburg.

The family wishes to thank Mon Health Center and Amedisys Hospice for their kind and compassionate care.

In keeping with Bill's wishes, cremation services will be provided.

A memorial service will be held at 1:30 p.m. Sunday, November 10, in Suncrest United Methodist Church, 479 Van Voorhis Road, with the Rev. Larry Buckland officiating. The family will also host a Celebration of Life reception later that same day, from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m., in The Erickson Alumni Center, 1 Alumni Drive, Morgantown.

In lieu of flowers, the family asks that memorial donations be made to Suncrest United Methodist Church, which was a big part of Bill's life, or World Central Kitchen, as he loved feeding people.

COURTS Jury convicts former Kentucky officer of using excessive force on Breonna Taylor

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — A federal jury on Friday convicted a former Kentucky police detective of using excessive force on Breonna Taylor during a botched 2020 drug raid that left her dead

The 12-member jury returned the late-night verdict after clearing Brett Hankison earlier in the evening on a charge that he used excessive force on Taylor's neighbors.

It was the first conviction of a Louisville police officer who was involved in the deadly raid.

Some members of the jury were in tears as the verdict was read around 9:30 p.m. They had earlier indicated to the judge in two separate messages that they were deadlocked on the charge of using excessive force on Taylor, but chose to continue deliberating. The six-man, six-woman jury deliberated for more than

In a statement posted to social media Saturday, the Louisville Metro Police Department said that it respects the jury's verdict and that since 2020, it has improved training, practices and policies and implemented reforms emphasizing "accountability and thorough investigations."

"It is not lost on us that this event forever altered the fabric of our community, and we acknowledge the pain caused by the death of Breonna Taylor," the department said. 'Our officers are sworn to protect and serve the community, upholding the law with integrity and fairness. We condemn any behavior that runs afoul of the mission to help and protect our locked on federal charges citizens."

The death of the 26-year-old Black woman, along with the May 2020 police killing of George Floyd in Minneapolis sparked racial injustice protests nationwide.

Bernice King, the daughter of Martin Luther King Jr., called the verdict "a long-awaited moment of accountabilitv.'

"While it cannot restore Breonna to her family, it represents a crucial step in the pursuit of justice and a reminder that no one should be above the law," King said in a social media post Friday night.

This jury sent a note on Thursday to the judge asking whether they needed to know if Taylor was alive as Hankison fired his shots.

That was a point of contention during closing arguments, when Hankison's attorney Don Malarcik told the jury that prosecutors must "prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Ms. Taylor was alive" when Hankison fired.

After the jury sent the question, Jennings urged them to keep deliberating.

Walker shot and wounded one of the officers. Hankison testified that when Walker fired, he moved away, rounded the corner of the apartment unit and fired into Taylor's glass door and a window.

Meanwhile, officers at the door returned Walker's fire, hitting and killing Taylor, who was in a hallway.

Hankison's lawyers argued during closing statements Wednesday that Hankison was acting properly "in a very tense, very chaotic environment" that lasted about 12 seconds. They emphasized that Hankison's shots didn't hit anyone.

Hankison was one of four officers charged by the U.S. Department of Justice in 2022 with violating Taylor's civil rights. Hankison's verdict is the second conviction from those cases. The first was a plea deal from a former officer who was not at the raid and became a cooperating witness in another case.

OBITUARIES

Charles H. Ord, Jr.

Charles H. "Chuck" Ord, Jr., known for his kindness and friendliness in every community he touched, passed away peacefully Sunday, October 27, 2024, in Kingwood, at the age of 86. Born March 12, 1938, in Keyser, Chuck embraced life with warmth and enthusiasm that left an indelible mark on all who knew him.

He was predeceased by his wife, Phyllis Ord; his parents, Charles H. Ord, Sr. and Helen Minerva Shultz Ord: his sister. Helen A. Ord; and brother, John E. Ord.

Chuck's legacy of love continues through his close-knit family. He is survived by his adoring daughter, Cassandra "Cassie" Ord (Sean Mentnech) of Morgantown; and son, Chad M. Ord (Ashley) of Bruceton Mills. His joy for life extended to his grandsons, Colton and Cooper, whom he treasured immensely. Also left to cherish his memory are his siblings, Eleanor Wetzel of Sellinsgrove, Jeanne M. Lawson of Dublin, Ga., Debra L. Unger of Frederick, Md., Patricia J. Ord of Reedsville, Rebecca L. Welton of Reedsville, and Elizabeth A Cappas of Morgantown; along with his brothers, James E. Ord of Wallingford, Conn., and Robert L. Ord of Reedsville.

Chuck's life was one of service and contribution. His commitment to his country was evident as he served in the United States Air Force during the Cold War.

After his military service, Chuck dedicated his career as a financial counselor at Mon General Hospital.

A member of St. Francis de Sales Catholic Church, he lived his faith through action, visibly reflected in his years of volunteering at Mon General after retirement and his steadfast Deborah began working for the Monongalia County Board of Education in 1988. She was employed with the County for 30 years. She touched the lives of students as they passed through the doors of the school or came to the office at Dorsey Elementary, Goff Early Childhood Center, Central Elementary, Riverside Elementary, and Skyview Elementary. The students had a difficult time pronouncing Ferguson, so they quickly gave her the name "Miss Debbie" or "Miss Deb." She retired from Skyview in June of 2017.

The family would like to express heartfelt thanks to Dr. Lauren Veltri, Beth Morrison, and all the wonderful staff at the Mary Babb Randolph Cancer Center. The family would also like to extend its heartfelt thanks to WV Caring Hospice. The family will be forever grateful for the medical treatment, compassion, and care.

After graduating from Morgantown High School, Ricky started studying at Trinity Christian College in Dunedin, Fla.

Upon returning to West Virginia, he graduated from Fairmont State and later West Virginia University as a Doctor of Divinity, just three days before his tragic heart attack. He was so proud of his diploma and let his friends and family know by saying, "I worked so hard for so many years, and now I am fulfilled." Little did he know, after 31 days in the hospital, he would be rejoicing and celebrating his accomplishments with God.

Private services are under the care of the Fred L. Jenkins Funeral Home. Ricky will be laid to rest at Forks of Cheat Cemetery.

'Here' gets lost in the message

WHEN IT COMES TO FILMS THAT WILL CAUSE AN EMOTIONAL GUT PUNCH, DIRECTOR ROBERT ZE-MECKIS HAS HIS SHARE. But while his new film "Here" certainly attempts to harken back to some of his previous work, most notably "Forrest Gump," it is ultimately a cheap imitation of what made that film a classic.

"Here" spans the entirety of existence but focuses on one very particular spot of the world. The static camera angle starts with the age of dinosaurs, through the ice age, and then through the ages of industrialization when houses were built, including the house that would eventually be the residence of the Young family.

While we see others who live in that space, the focus is on Al Young (Paul Bettany) and his wife, Rose (Kelly Reilly), who purchase the home through the GI Bill when Al gets home from the war. They raise three children there, including ry in there, but overall, "Here" gets lost in the overarching theme of the circle of life while not providing any compelling characters or narrative. There are at least five other families depicted living in that house (or the one across the street), but none complete any kind of throughline for the story. The Indigenous couple that lives on the land and the Black family that lives there in the present seem to exist only to bring up "important issues" while not actually having any kind of characters.

And maybe some of that would work if the story of the Young family was their son Richard (Tom engrossing, but even that Hanks), who eventually didn't come together. The lives there with his wife characters are flat, and despite the talented cast. the performances are also lackluster. Few actors can tug on the heartstrings like Hanks, but even he SEE HERE, B-2

WVU Heart and Vascular Institute first in state to offer new AI-powered screening

WVU Medicine

The WVU Heart and Vascular Institute is the first in West Virginia to offer a new, AI-powered cardiovascular screening algorithm to improve cardiovascular care for its patients.

Using an advanced algorithm to determine a total coronary artery calcium (CAC) Agatston score, the tool, provided by Bunkerhill Health, helps to improve the early detection and management of heart disease.

CAC represents hardening of the heart blood vessels and is an indicator of future risk of coronary artery disease.

Previously, this type of screen-

With this tool, the automated algorithm runs in the background of chest CT scans, like those used in lung cancer screening. Patients automatically receive a CAC score during any non-contrast chest CT scan.

When a patient with elevated CAC is identified, their primary care provider or cardiologist is promptly notified.

The notification includes the patient's CAC score and Multi-Ethnic Study of Atherosclerosis (MESA) risk percentile, allowing for timely and personalized follow-up care for the patient.

Depending upon how early the tute, ing required a special order from elevated CAC is discovered, treat-Heart.

"Coronary artery calcium is a powerful predictor of future risk of coronary heart disease. Its early detection through this AI algorithm can help identify high-risk patients that would benefit from preventive measures to improve their outcomes," Irfan Zeb, M.D., WVU Heart and Vascular Institute cardiologist, said about the screening algorithm.

Sheriff asks FBI to investigate death of Black man found hanging

Associated Press

MONTGOMERY. Ala. The FBI is investigating the death of a Black man in Alabama, who was found hanging in an abandoned house, following a request from a local sheriff amid fears among community members who accuse local law enforcement of longstanding, unchecked misconduct.

Sheriff's deputies found Dennoriss Richardson, 39, in September in a rural part of Colbert County, miles away from his home in Sheffield, a city of approximately 10,000 people near the Tennessee River. The Colbert County Sheriff's Office ruled Richardson's death a suicide. But Richardson's wife, Leigh Richardson, has said that is not true, explaining her husband did not leave a note and had no connection to the house where he was found.

Instead, the 40-year-old fears her husband's death was related to a lawsuit he filed against the local police department in February. Dennoriss Richardson, who coached kids in baseball and football, had alleged he was assaulted, denied medical attention, spraved with tear gas and shocked with a Taser while in jail.

Leigh Richardson said she is not accusing a specific person but is adamant her husband didn't kill himself.

She is not alone in her belief. Widespread skepticism about Richardson's death underscores deep-seated distrust of

Buffett sitting on over $325 billion in cash

Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb. — Warren Buffett is now sitting on more than $325 billion cash after continuing to unload billions of dollars worth of Apple and Bank of America shares this year and continuing to collect a steady stream of profits from all of Berkshire Hathaway's assortbusinesses without ed finding any major acquisitions.

Berkshire said it sold off about 100 million more Apple shares in the third quarter after halving its massive investment in the iPhone maker last quarter. The remaining stake of roughly 300 million shares was valued at $69.9 billion at the end of September remains Berkshire's biggest single investment, but it has been cut drastically since the end of last year when it was worth $174.3 billion.

Investors will also be disappointed to learn that Berkshire didn't repurchase any of its own shares in the quarter.

CFRA Research analyst Cathy Seifert said shareholders will wonder why Buffett is continuing to accumulate so much cash. "Are they more pessimistic about the future economic and market picture

Class A share.

Buffett has long recommended that investors pay more attention to Berkshire's operating earnings if they want to get a good sense of how the businesses it owns are doing because those numbers exclude investments. Berkshire's bottom-line profit figures can vary widely from quarter to quarter along with the value of its investments regardless of whether the company bought or sold anything.

By that measure, Berkshire said its operating earnings were only down about 6% at $10.09 billion, or $7,023.01 per Class A share. That compares to last year's $10.8 billion, or $7,437.15 per Class A share.

The four analysts surveyed by FactSet Research predicted that Berkshire would report operating earnings of $7,335.11 per Class A share.

Berkshire's revenue didn't change much at $92.995 billion. A vear ago. it reported $93.21 billion revenue. That number was ahead of the $92.231 billion revenue that three by analysts surveyed FactSet predicted.

Man who took in Peanut the squirrel says it's 'surreal' officials euthanized his pet

Associated Press

NEW YORK — A man who took in an orphaned squirrel and made it a social media star vowed Saturday that New York state's decision to seize and euthanize the animal "won't go unheard."

"We will make a stance on how this government and New York state utilizes their resources," Mark Longo said in a phone interview.

He declined to specify his possible next steps but said officials would hear from him soon about what happened to Peanut the squirrel and Fred, a rescued raccoon that was also confiscated and put down.

The state Department of Environmental Conservation took the animals Wednesday from Longo's home and animal sanctuary in rural Pine City, near the Pennsylvania border. The agency said it had gotten complaints that wildlife was being kept illegally and potentially unsafely.

State law requires people to get a license if they wish to own a wild animal. Longo has said what he described as an he was working to get hourslong, heavy-handed Peanut — also known as search. The authorities tified as an educational since they left the proper-Buffett said at the annual meeting in May that part of why he started selling some of his Apple shares is that he expects tax rates to go higher in the future. But Edward Jones analyst Jim Shanahan said he wonders if part of the reason Buffett started selling Apple is tied to last year's death of Vice Chairman Charlie Munger because the one mystery from the sales started shortly after Munger's death. Shanahan said Buffett has never been as comfortable with technology businesses as his longtime partner was.

"If Charlie Munger were still alive, perhaps he wouldn't have sold down the position quite as aggressively — maybe at all," Shanahan said.

Berkshire said Saturday that investment gains again drove its third quarter profits skyward to $26.25 billion, or $18,272 per Class A share. A year ago, unrealized paper investment losses dragged the Omaha, Nebraska-based conglomerate's earnings down to a loss of $12.77 billion, or $8,824 per businesses, including Geico, along with BNSF railroad, several major utilities and a varied collection of retail and manufacturing businesses, including brands like Dairy Queen and See's Candy.

One of Berkshire's insurers, Guard, reported some additional losses on previous years after managers reassessed its policies.

Berkshire did resolve quarter by spelling out how much it paid to acquire the rest of the shares in its utility business from the estate of former Berkshire board member Walter Scott.

Berkshire said it paid $2.4 billion cash, issued $600 million in debt and gave the Scott family Class B Berkshire shares worth a little over $1 billion. So the total compensation was about $4 billion. That means the Scott family didn't get nearly as good of a price for their 8% stake in the utilities as when Berkshire Vice Chairman Greg Abel sold his 1% stake in the utility business two years ago for $870 million.

WORLD Zelenskyy urges allies to act before North Korean troops reach Ukraine

Associated Press

KYIV, Ukraine Ukraine's President Volodymyr Zelenskyy urged its allies to stop "watching" and take steps before North Korean troops deployed in Russia reach the battlefield, and the country's army chief warned that his troops are facing "one of the most powerful offensives" by Moscow since the all-out war started more than two years ago.

Zelenskyy raised the prospect of a preemptive Ukrainian strike on camps where the North Korean troops are being trained and said Kyiv knows their location. But he said Ukraine can't do it without permission from allies to use Western-made weapons to hit targets weapons had been transdeep inside Russia.

"But instead ... America is watching. Britain is watching, Germany is watching. Everyone is just waiting for the North Korean military to start attacking Ukrainians as well," Zelenskyy said in a post late Friday on the Telegram messaging app.

The Biden administration said Thursday that some 8,000 North Korean soldiers are now in Russia's Kursk region near Ukraine's border and are preparing to help the Kremlin fight against Ukrainian troops in the coming days.

On Saturday, Ukraine's military intelligence said that more than 7,000 North Koreans equipped long-range with Russian gear and ported to areas near Ukraine. The agency, known by its acronym GUR, said that North Korean troops were being trained at five locations in Russia's Far East. It did not specify its source of information.

Western leaders have described the North Korean troop deployment as a significant escalation that could also jolt relations in the Indo-Pacific region, and open the door to technology transfers from Moscow to Pyongyang that could advance the threat posed by North Korea's nuclear weapons

on Friday.

Ukrainian leaders repeatedly have said they need permission to use Western weapons to strike arms depots, airfields and military bases far from the border to motivate Russia to seek peace. In response, U.S. defense officials have argued that the missiles are limited in number, and that Ukraine is already using its own long-range drones to hit targets farther into Russia.

Moscow has also consistently signaled that it would view any such strikes as a major escalation. President Vladimir Putin warned on Sept. 12 that Russia would be "at war" with the U.S. and NATO states if they approve them.

cannot elicit much of an emotional response. Wright has one poignant moment at her fiftieth birthday party, but beyond that, the movie fails to connect.

The gimmick of the static camera is interesting, and the use of in-panel transitions can construct some lovely blended scenes. Unfortunately, they never connect the stories of the people who live in the space in a way that creates something to hold onto. Instead, it just feels like a neat film trick that doesn't add anything to the movie itself.

It's tough to go into a film by a filmmaker as esteemed as Zemeckis and come out calling it soulless, but this movie simply doesn't deliver the goods. In his best films, Zemeckis taps into a sense of humanity and connection that allows us to see the world differently, perhaps with a bit more compassion. Unfortunately, "Here" feels like a collection of clichés strung together with some clever filmmaking techniques rather than the profound human experience that it boasts.

CROSS-COUNTRY

A CLEAN SWEEP UHS wins boys, girls state titles; MHS streak ends at five

BY DAVID WALSH

For The Dominion Post

ONA - University High became the crowned kings and queens of West Virginia distance running on Saturday, at the 5,000-meter course at Cabell Midland High School.

For a sixth consecutive year, the UHS boys' cross-country team brought home a state championship, placing three individual runners in the top 10 and all five scoring runners in the top 23. The Hawks finished with 42 points overall, easily beating out second-place Cabell Midland (80). Morgantown High placed fourth with 108 points.

"The boys kind of like don't want to be the ones not to do it," University coach Ed Frohnapfel said. "They want to keep things going. The tradition of prior years and the great runners. I worry about the team. Individuals take care of themselves."

Meanwhile, the UHS girls dethroned Morgantown High from the top of the mountain to win its first state team championship since 2018.

Even with Adelyn Tager sitting out with an injury, her teammates stepped up and won the title with 56 points, with Cabell Midland taking second with 74. Morgantown High, which entered the meet winners of the last five state championships, finished third with 83 points. Preston High took fourth with 100 points.

"It's everything to us," said Abigail Rogers, who took second with a time of 18:40.79. "We were working for the seniors. We all just wanted to do it for each other and Adelyn. I was near the fence urging the girls to come on. We're happy to do it. Wouldn't want it any other way. We stepped up."

The UHS girls had all five of its runners place in the top 23.

"Really happy for the girls," said Frohnapfel, who also coaches the UHS girls' team. "I didn't think we'd have five to finish. The fact we did shows the effort they put in. They worked hard all year."

Hurricane's Tyler Steorts was the Class AAA boys individual winner for a third straight year, winning in 15:11. Aidan Kneeland of Cabell Midland was second.

"Steorts, he's just special,"

Frohnapfel said.

Tyler Umbright led University High with a third-place finish in 15:55.41. Ethan Conroy (16:07.35) was fifth, Micha Gainer (16:07.97) sixth, Logan Conroy (16:38.68) finished in 14th place, while Colin Schrull (17:07.47) was 23rd.

"Don't want to be the ones that end it," Umbright said of six consecutive state titles. "They perform each year. I have great teammates and a Umbright started out hoping to stick with Steorts, but the Hurricane runner proved too strong.

A look at how the Mountaineers' season is going so far

BY DEREK REDD

Sports@DominionPost.com

The West Virginia University football team has hit the two-thirds mark of its season, resting this weekend with a bye before visiting Cincinnati at noon Saturday. At 4-4, the Mountaineers' campaign has seen its ups and downs. Here are some numbers that tell part of the story as to why WVU's season has turned out as it has thus far.

– 49.5% – That's how often WVU's opponents have been successful in converting third and fourth downs this season. Foes have converted 44 of 95 third downs and 11 of 16 fourth downs. That means it's nearly a literal coinflip whether West Virginia can stop an offense on those two downs, which tells you a lot about the defense's struggles in 2024.

– 21 – How many plays 30 vards or longer the Mountaineers have allowed this season. That figure ties the Mountaineers for 115th in the Football Bowl Subdivision with five other teams. They're also near the bottom of the FBS in 40-plus-yard plays allowed (tied for 129th with 14) and 50-plus-yard plays allowed (tied for 86th with five). The Mountaineers have been too much in the habit of giving up huge chunks of yards at a time.

38 – WVU's ranking in rushing defense, a respectable 121.5 yards per game. West Virginia doesn't give up a ton of yards on the ground, though that could be because of ...

– 114 – WVU's ranking in passing defense, allowing 261 yards per game. And it doesn't take much for opponents to reach that mark. The Mountaineers are allowing 9.3 yards per attempt, second worst in the FBS. Throw all those numbers together, and they offer some reasons as to why Jordan Lesley was let go as defensive coordinator earlier this week. 4.6 – The Mountaineers don't often hurt themselves with penalties. They average 4.6 per game, tied with Bowling Green and Oregon State for 14th best in the FBS. And the penalties they are flagged for often aren't big ones. Their 34.4 penalty yards per game are sixth best in the nation.

– 9 – However, interceptions are a much bigger problem this year for West Virginia than they were last year. The Mountaineers have thrown nine so far, eight from Greene and one from Nicco Marchiol. West Virginia threw just seven interceptions all of last season.

22 - WVU's FBS ranking in rushing offense. The Mountaineers are averaging 202.25 yards per game. No one on the team is averaging more than SEE SEASON, B-7

DEREK REDD College football fans put their money to some silly uses

Some people just have too much disposable income on their hands.

A group of WVU football fans dubbing themselves "The Wolfpack" have spent the money on a trio of billboards around Morgantown emblazoned with the words "Fire Neal Brown." The group obviously isn't happy with the Mountaineers' 4-4 record this year, nor are they satisfied with Brown's 35-33 overall record.

Now, before you say anything, yes, it is most certainly The Wolfpack's First Amendment right to buy billboards around Morgantown demanding Brown be removed from his post.

It's also my First Amendment right to say how silly it is.

What do those guys think is the endgame for their little purchase? Do they think Brown will drive past one of those billboards and say to himself, "Y'know, they're right," and run right to athletic director Wren Baker's office to resign?

Do they think Baker will drive past one on the way to work and say to himself, "Y'know, they're right," and pink slip Brown before lunch? SEE FANS, B-7

Research provides interesting insight on what impacts wildlife

DAVE SAMUEL

If you are a loyal reader, then you know that I rely on scientific research for many of my columns. A review of the latest Journal of Wildlife Management and The Wildlife Society Bulletin provided some interesting information on various wildlife species.

Here is just one example of a fascinating wildlife study. Wood ducks nest in tree cavities, but will also use artificial nest boxes in North and South Carolina. It turns out that eastern rat snakes and woodpeckers were primary predators of wood duck eggs in nest boxes.

In this study the researchers used snake repellent pellets and a plastic raptor decov to deter the snakes and woodpeckers. They used cameras to record 671 nest failures and rat snakes were responsible for 40%, while woodpeckers took 22%. The snake repellents were of no use. The raptor decoy, when used while the

ducks incubated eggs increased nest survival significantly. Apparently, the woodpeckers want to nest in those boxes, so they destroy eggs. The snakes obviously want to eat the eggs and are able to climb the pole holding the nest box. Although there were a lot of nest box failures, they didn't mention how many boxes were successful in raising wood ducks.

Supplemental feeding is commonly done for deer. It also attracts other species, and this can cause disease problems and also lead to predation. In addition, the presence of wild hogs may prevent other species from feeding there.

This study was done in that reduction of wild South Carolina. Between March and July they found that the presence of large pig groups prevented deer from using the feed. This caused deer to be there at night when pigs don't use the supplemental feed.

However, this exposed younger deer to more predation from coyotes who actively hunt in early morning at sunrise and late at night at sunset. The authors concluded that supplemental feeders should not be used where wild pigs, deer, and coyotes live.

Wild pigs can also cause problems for wild turkeys. They predate the nests and adult birds. They used cameras to assess wild turkey responses to removal of wild pigs. They had three study areas of which two were over 10,000 acres in size and one was a control area where no wild pigs were removed.

Over a 20-month period they removed 1,851 pigs. The analysis is a bit detailed, but the end results clustered so that there were that pig removal increased the turkey population by 1.5 times. Turkey poults were 3.5 times as likely to occupy an area where pig removal was high.

They concluded pigs may lead to a local increase in turkey numbers. These last two studies are a great reason that we do not want wild pigs scattered over West Virginia. The ones we do have in southern West Virginia are controlled under rigid hunting guidelines by our DNR.

Sage grouse numbers have dropped significantly throughout their range, mainly due to habitat degradation. In fact, there are several studies that show that oil and gas development has had a negative effect on sage grouse. Each spring, male sage grouse perform an elaborate sunrise display on communal breeding grounds known as "leks." Often such leks are in open areas where males can be more easily seen and heard by female grouse.

Researchers in Wyoming examined use of 78 leks located within nine miles of wind turbines. Often the turbines were was more undisturbed habitat for the birds. They noted that this study was conducted on areas of low grouse populations as areas that have the highest grouse numbers in Wyoming are off limits to all energy development.

The use of wind turbines in these lower grouse population areas did not impact the birds. Just another example where research results benefit wildlife.

Thomas equals TDs in Mohigans' 49–7 Mohawk Bowl victory

MHS running back sets school record with 7 rushing scores

BY MICHAEL GRIFFITH Sports@DominionPost.com

If you could roster A.J. Thomas for your fantasy football team this week, there's a strong chance the matchup would lean heavily in your favor.

The Morgantown senior set a new single-game program record of seven touchdowns in a 49-7 victory over the University Hawks on Friday night in the 2024 Mohawk Bowl at Pony Lewis Field.

Thomas finished the night with 16 carries for 186 yards and seven scores.

"The entire team came in this week in practice with a lot of energy and tonight in our performance," Thomas said. FANS

All these guys did was throw money at something when it could have been better spent elsewhere. But stunts like these billboards are nothing special – and nothing new. It's just another page in the wacky annals of college football fandom.

It's not like The Wolfpack birthed a novel concept, even at WVU. Remember. Mountaineer fans hung Bobby Bowden in effigy in 1974, his lone losing season out of six in Morgantown. In 1999, competing banners were flown over WVU's home game against Virginia Tech both for and against coach Don Nehlen, one saying "Nehlen Must Go" and another saying "We Support Don Nehlen and WVU." And does anyone remember the "Don Nehlen Up-The-Middle-O-Meter" banner hung in the corner of Mountaineer Field in the 1990s? At least that one was funny.

Shoot, Bowden couldn't dodge the dadgummed detractors after he moved to Florida State, where he won two national titles and finished in the Associated Press top four for 14 straight seasons. In 2006, an FSU fan created the website RetireCoachBowden.com, which was much more polite than down the road in Gainesville, where University of Florida fans created FireRonZook. com. And there's also the time where a fan filed a Freedom of Information Act request for then-Arkansas football coach Houston Nutt's cell phone records.

The bottom line is fans have been logging protests against college football coaches since time immemorial. Coaches know second-guessing from outside the football building comes with the territory. Brown said that himself earlier this year.

"If you're going to play, if you're going to coach, you're going to work at a high level in any given profession that you're in public – which this is a public profession – you're going to get scrutinized," he said. "And I will tell you ... you've got to be careful who you take criticism from. Don't accept criticism from somebody you wouldn't go to for advice. I try to live that."

Translation: Three billboards inside Morgantown, West Virginia, probably won't be as effective as you'd hope. In fact, public displays like that could turn around and bite the program down the line.

If a coaching change does happen somewhere down the line, who's to say a highly prized candidate doesn't look at that stunt and say, "Hmm, the previous guy won nine games and a bowl the year before and they bought billboards wanting him fired when he was .500 eight games into the next season? No thanks." Now, I'm sure some of the fanbase will say, "If they can't handle that, they shouldn't be coaching." But hiring a football coach at WVU's level is a seller's market. There are 67 Power Four football coaching jobs in America. The top-dog contenders might stomach that at Auburn or Michigan, but probably not in Morgantown.

I'm sure footing the bill for billboards or airplane banners or websites make those doing the spending feel better, but it's really just another example of how goofy college fandom can get.

If you're looking to spend money, give it to an NIL group, a school at the university or even a local animal shelter, someplace where it can do some good. And if you're looking for a hobby, try birdwatching. It's much more relaxing.

EDITORIAL Getting out the vote important

Leaders of both major political parties agree on one thing: The presidential election scheduled for Tuesday is among the most important in American history.

Its outcome will shape our government, economy, even our society for many years to come, and may even come to truly define just who we are at this time. Your life and that of your children and grandchildren will be affected profoundly no matter who is elected.

Don't you want to have a say in the matter?

To judge by voter turnouts in previous elections, many of your friends, family members, co-workers and neighbors simply don't care about how we are governed.

They do not bother to vote. Imagine that — they don't even bother to vote.

There is no reason for such apathy this year — in fact, there should never be an excuse to be so fed up with the system that you don't vote. We already have had several opportunities to vote over the past few weeks — absentee voting by mail, early voting in person (which ended Saturday afternoon). If you prefer to vote on Election Day, you can hit the polls with your fellow citizens to ensure your voice is heard. Let's be frank: If you are reading this, you probably understand the importance of this election. Perhaps you have voted already.

But what about others you know, perhaps even in your own family or circle of friends?

Are they as engaged as you are? Are they even fully aware that Election Day is Tuesday?

If not, encourage them to make a difference by voting. Offer to help, perhaps by explaining the ballot process or offering to drive them to their polling place on Tuesday. Talk to them about the candidates on the ballot. Its likely they know who's running for president, but what about the Monongalia County Sheriff's race? Or the County Commission?

How you vote is important, of course. But more critical in the long run is whether you participate in the election. Our form of government — of, by and for the people — can endure only if we Americans are part of it. If we do not use the most effective tool at our disposal — the ballot — to get the kind of government we want, we will not get it.

It really is that simple. Vote, then, and spread the word about how important it is to do so. You can make a difference there, too.

Sales tax appears overboard

A move by the town council in Granville to become a Home Rule city and add a 1% municipal sales tax is of real concern. If passed, the town of 1,400 would see its municipal budget balloon from its current $9.5 million to about $13.3 million. Morgantown, by contrast, has 30,500 residents and a $45 million budget. How is it that Granville, at 1.31 square miles, needs a budget one-third the size of Morgantown? Someone on council should explain.

My family and friends are angry with me because I won't tell them for whom I plan to vote for president. I have not voted for the Republican or Democrat for president since 1984, when I happily voted for Ronald Reagan. Since those days, the Democrats have gravitated to principles of big government, and Republicans have abandoned all principles.

I will give the Democrats credit. They do not believe that the Constitution restrains the federal government. They believe that the Congress is a general legislature that can right any wrong, tax any event, regulate any behavior and intrude upon any relationship.

Most Republicans believe the same but don't acknowledge believing it for fear of sounding like the Democrats. All the growth in warfare, taxing, spending, regulation and suppression of civil liberties in the past 25 years has been bipartisan. The only exceptions have been the libertarian Republicans and progressive Democrats -- the Rand Paul and Bernie Sanders types.

All others are in lockstep on the issues that matter most: War and peace, debt, personal freedom.

The two major party candidates for president exemplify this.

Both Kamala Harris and Donald Trump favor war against countries and peoples who pose no threat whatsoever to the national security of the United States. They even favor war in aid of countries with which the U.S. has no treaty obligating America to aid them.

Both Trump and Harris favor spending trillions more per year than the feds collect in taxes, just to keep certain folks happy. Some of those folks are the unfortunate have-nots, and some are the bank ers and arms manufacturers. Both candidates believe in increasing the reach of the federal government so far beyond the confines of the Constitution as to make the government utterly unrecognizable to those who crafted it 250 years ago. They both believe in giveaways for the poor, tax breaks for the middle class, bailouts for the rich and bribes to the states Neither believes in the values that underlie the Constitution. One of them wants to amend the First Amendment so as to enable Congress to criminalize flag burning. When the Supreme Court last looked at this, the late Justice Antonin Scalia wrote that the flag University of Notre Dame Law School.

itself stands for the right to express one's political views by destroying it. The same candidate wants to amend the Fifth Amendment -which guarantees a fair trial before the government can take the life, liberty or property of any person -so as to permit local police and federal agents to administer corporal punishment at the scene of a crime. Never mind that they might beat the davlights out of the wrong person, never mind that they might completely misinterpret events that occurred before they arrived on the scene, never mind that one man's punch in the gut is another man's kiss on the cheek, this candidate wants the Constitution to permit "rough justice."

The same candidate wants to deport all foreign-born persons -- even those here lawfully -- because this candidate believes they are polluting the nation's blood stream.

To this candidate, rights are not natural to all persons but are granted by the laws of the place where one's mother was physically located at the time of one's birth.

One of the candidates wants to amend the 14th Amendment so as to permit mothers and their physicians to kill babies in the womb. This candidate somehow equates baby-killing with personal autonomy, and even calls this a "right."

This candidate needs to understand that the greatest human right is the right to be alive, and this is the gift of the Creator who loves all life.

One of the candidates wants to put Walmart, Costco, Target, Amazon, Apple and Mercedes-Benz out of business by imposing a 200% tax on all goods imported from outside the U.S.

Both candidates have a remarkable antipathy to the Fourth Amendment. That amendment guarantees the right to be left alone. Yet, both Trump and Harris agree that this amendment doesn't really mean what it says. Does it matter who is president? Oh, it does emotionally -- but not constitutionally. Both Harris and Trump will kill innocents, borrow trillions and crush liberty. Where are you, Thomas Jefferson and James Madison? A nation turns its lonely eyes to you. Judge Andrew P. Panic for profit

The world must be getting so much worse! Activists protest everywhere.

Listening to them, I'd think hate. homophobia, racism and environmental threats are at record highs. But it's not true

Despite our ugly election politics, for most people, life is better than ever. Our air and water are cleaner. People live longer and healthier lives. There's less racism and homophobia. But if they admit that, activists would be out of a job.

John Tierney, a journalist who's covered protests for years, says, "For activists, success is a threat. It is going to put you out of business." I push back. "They're not a business. They're not making money doing this." "Yes, they are!" He's right. Environmental groups probably make the most. The head of the World Wildlife Fund pays himself $1.2 million a year. Somehow, that will reduce climate change?

"Climate change is the perfect crisis," says Tierney, "You can attribute anything to it, and it's always in the future.'

When it comes to deceitful self-dealing, says Tierney, "The ultimate example is the Southern Poverty Law Center.'

When the SPLC opened, it promised legal help to those harmed by racism. After its lawsuits bankrupted chapters of the Ku Klux Klan, the SPLC changed its "Klanwatch" to "Hatewatch," Tierney points out, "fabricating the idea that there's a rising tide of hate in this country. ... It scares people, and they get money.'

"Scaremongering and giving people the idea that there's all this hatred and racism," Tierney continues, "when all the evidence shows just the reverse. The SPLC'S founder said he'd stop fundraising once they raised $55 million. Now they have $600 million, and they ask people for more money. Another branch of the crisis industry, The Human Rights Campaign, claims that American gays are under attack. They issued a "national state of emergency" for LGBTQ+ people. But "Last year, public support for gay rights reached an all-time high." says Tierney. "Gays can marry in every state. There's no stigma against homosexuality. Racial justice activists claim America is still a racist country. "How did this fundamentally racist country elect Barack Obama and reelect him?' They raised more than $10 billion after George Floyd was killed. BLM's leaders spent $12 million of it on luxury properties.

weedledee and Tweedled

Yes, the University Town Centre is part of Granville, and the town handles some paving there. But according to Mayor Patty Lewis, the tax increase would serve in many ways as a just-in-case fund if the Business and Occupation tax is eliminated.

"We're trying to be proactive," Lewis said. "I just don't want residents or anybody who shops at the (University) Town Centre thinking we're doing that just to boost our budget and be wasteful. We're doing it as a precaution. So we know that we'll have the funds to provide the services we're obligated to provide."

Taxes should not be levied simply in such a manner that allow government to feel comfortable. They instead should be levied at a level that requires government to be as efficient as possible. That doesn't appear to be the case here.

Town council meets again Nov. 12. Those elected to serve the people should offer some real answers.

Remember what's important

"They have so little, and we have so much."

"They are so happy, and yet we are so sad."

Those observations come from one of West Virginia's most interesting and genuinely kind residents, the Bishop Darrell Cummings of Wheeling. Cummings, a Pentecostal bishop who now oversees Port Elizabeth in South Africa along with his ministry in Wheeling, recently returned from a visit across the ocean with his parishioners. He said even though the residents there have little, they always are so happy. He compared that to here, where we have been given so much yet always seem to believe we don't have enough.

That's such a powerful reminder that we should not take the peace and prosperity we have been given for granted. America, even with all its problems, still remains the shining city on a hill that the rest of the world admires. We must not let our differences get in the way. As we head through this upcoming election and the results are revealed, always remember: we live in the greatest nation in the world. No matter who wins, America remains strong and the beacon of hope. Don't let that change.

Activists' self-promotion often kills.

"One of the great public health advances (of) this century has been vaping. Tierney points out. "Once vaping devices were introduced, smoking rates plummeted to historic lows."

Lots of lives are saved because vaping is much safer than smoking.

"But this was a huge threat to anti-smoking activists," says Tierney. "If people were quitting on their own, what happens to us? So, they started scaring people about vaping.

'They've succeeded in persuading most people that vaping is as dangerous as smoking," he adds. "That is a horrible thing to do to the public.'

Conspiracy nonsense does not belong in this election

Editor, Dominion Post:

As I was driving over the Westover Bridge this evening. I saw a billboard by the Monongalia County Republicans encouraging early voting. I myself am an early voter and I love the convenience and ease of it. I hope many West Virginians continue to take advantage of early voting options before Nov 2.

Unfortunately, the other half of the billboard displayed the phrase 'lets vote in numbers "Too Big to Rig." I can only assume that this is a reference to the big lie that continues to be told by a certain Republican presidential candidate that the 2020 election was stolen or fraudulent in some way. It has been shown many times over in multiple courts that the 2020 election was secure and the result accurate.

That the local Republican party would choose to push this blatantly false and anti-democratic narrative is beyond frustrating, and feeds into fear-mongering during an already tense time. The Monongalia County Republicans are doing a disservice to their candidates, members and our community by choosing to fund a campaign spreading conspiracy theory nonsense, rather than sticking to the values and issues that voters want to hear about.

Messaging AI to youngsters is an important next step

Editor, Dominion Post:

After reading Alise Chaffen's opinion piece on the new film, 'The Wild Robot,' I appreciate her take on the messaging surrounding parenthood and friendship.

However, critical reviews of this film seem to forget the societal context that this film is being released in, which I take issue with.

Generative AI has made a notable rise in recent years and is the newest technological development we have had to adapt to and integrate into our lives

Workplaces and schools are still figuring out ethical uses of AI. The young kids of today will grow up and not remember a time without AI.

Yet, there has been no conversation of the ideology this movie pushes on the young kids of its target audience. The film features a robot becoming a mother to a young duckling, with the bold messaging of being "more than you are programmed to be."

While seemingly innocent and sweet, it also spreads the idea that robots can be sentient and feel human emotions such as motherly love. Adults may be able to distinguish this story as simply fictional and see themes such as "parenthood," younger children will take in the story as a whole.

This movie is not alone in pushing pro-AI ideas.

Watching the Olympics this past August, Google released a commercial ther asks Gemini to help his daughter write a fan letter, which a child should be more than capable of doing themselves.

As we are still figuring out AI's place in society, we need to be considerate about the messaging we are giving to the young impressionable generation, so that they don't lose their individuality and become overly reliant on Generative AI.

'No' vote the right vote on Amendment 1 on the ballot

Editor, Dominion Post:

I urge you to vote "NO" on AMEND-MENT ONE in the upcoming election. A "yes" vote will almost definitely increase the number of suicides by gun. West Virginia has the 6th highest rate of gun suicide in the U.S. Tragically, I lost a nephew to suicide-with-gun, and this might not have happened if medically-assisted suicide had been legal. The doctor might have convinced him to seek counseling before making such an irreversible decision. Also, I vividly remember hearing my father say numerous times, as he lay suffering in a hospital bed, "I wish I could go to sleep and never wake up." If we are truly civilized, we will permit medically-assisted suicide. A "yes" vote will prohibit medically-assisted suicide and ultimately lead to an increase in number of suicides by gun. A "ves" vote will result in vet another situation where the government tells us how to live our lives. Please vote "NO" on AMENDMENT ONE to allow death with dignity.

Edwin D. Michael Morgantown

Another call to vote no on Amendment 1 on the ballot

Editor, Dominion Post:

Please vote to defeat Amendment 1 "Protection of persons against medically assisted suicide" on Election Dav.

Amendment 1 is a Constitutional amendment to prohibit "medically assisted suicide, euthanasia, or mercy killing of a person.'

But Amendment 1 was written to fool the voters. Euthanasia and mer-for their Gemini AI tool, where a fa- cy killing are murder, and are already illegal. Amendment 1 is only asking voters to prohibit medically assisted suicide.

I believe that people facing a terminal condition should have the right to end their life humanely, quickly, effectively, and painlessly, with the assistance of a willing medical professional.

The legislature refused to place an abortion initiative on the ballot, even though the Dobbs decision sent the issue back to the states.

Instead, the puritanical busybodies in our legislature are using Amendment 1 as a deceitful way to further rob every West Virginian of bodily autonomy.

Amendment 1 states, "Nothing in this section prohibits the administration or prescription of medication for the purpose of alleviating pain or discomfort while the patient's condition follows its natural course".

However, when I am dying, I don't want to live my "natural course." My living will states that I want "treatment to relieve pain or provide comfort even if such treatment might shorten my life." Because if I am dying, I don't want to suffer.

If it passes, Amendment 1 will interfere with how each of us experience our deaths. It means that your doctor won't be allowed to prescribe enough morphine to alleviate pain, because it might interfere with the "natural course" of your life.

It means that the state will decide how much pain each of us must experience before we die.

Mountaineers Are Always Free. I believe that phrase applies to my entire life, including how it ends.

Please vote "no" on Amendment 1.

Considering the importance of supporting live-donor kidney donations: Call for change

For thousands of these Americans, the wait for a kidney is not just a matter of time — it is a matter of life and death.

As a nephrologist, I see firsthand the burden carried by patients awaiting kidney transplants. Many of them endure long, painful waits, and unfortunately, too many die without ever receiving the life-saving kidney which they need. Currently, over 93,000 Americans are on the kidney transplant waiting list, with more in need but not yet listed. In 2023, over half of the states in the U.S. (27) fell under the national average for living kidney donation.

West Virginia shares this low rate of living kidney donation with many Appalachian states. And overall, less than a third of all transplants in the US are from living donors, and over the past two decades, live kidney donations have not increased. needed support across rural This stagnation in living donor kidney transplantation occurs despite our knowledge that kidneys from live donors offer better outcomes, including longer survival times and lower risks among the greatest obstacles of complications. So, it is time for a change.

Across the nation, there is a lack of awareness and a substantial combination of barfinancial, logistical, riers and personal — that prevent potential donors from coming forward. In West Virginia, all the costs associated with dothe geographic and economic circumstances that many residents face include those common to rural communities which often have no resources necessary to navigate the es for donors to ensure that ficomplicated transplant pro- nancial burdens do not prevent Kidney disease is a silent in transplant rates: Black and ly to receive kidney transplants more likely to suffer from endstage kidney disease (ESKD) therapy. Addressing these social, economic and racial disparities across the country is not only a medical necessity but also a moral imperative.

> The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services' (CMS) proposed Increasing Organ Transplant Access (IOTA) Model is a step in the right direction. This new payment model aims to expand kidney transplant access by addressing key barriers to living kidney donation, including providing navigators to help both recipients and donors through the process. These navigators can guide potential donors through screenings, testing, and the transplant itself that ensure every patient is — steps that are often daunting without adequate support. By adopting successful small navigator programs like those at the University of Alabama at Birmingham and Johns Hopkins University, we could extend states like West Virginia and even nationwide, making a real difference in the lives of those waiting for a transplant.

Financial concerns are facing potential living donors. The National Living Donor Assistance Center (NLDAC) provides financial support to low-income individuals, reimbursing travel, lodging, and other related expenses. However, these supports do not cover nation and are available only to those donors whose recipients financially qualify. Under the IOTA Model, CMS could fully cover all out-of-pocket expenscess. Nationwide, we've seen willing individuals from stepping forward. Donors should tional support system for livnot be penalized for their generosity.

The stories of patients and families in West Virginia illustrate the pressing need for change. One of the lucky ones, my husband, was fortunate to have 11 siblings and many willing donors; he received a kidney from his sister.

However, as a nephrologist, I am acutely aware of too many individuals who, despite having a potential donor, cannot proceed with transplant evaluations or procedures due to economic hardship.

Too many families cannot afford to travel to a transplant center or take time off from work for the testing and hospitalization needed to be a kidney donor. These and other situations are all too familiar and can be corrected with appropriate legislation.

West Virginia needs policies given a real chance at life. Proposed federal legislation called the LOVE Act, represents a crucial step by creating a naing donors by addressing the challenges that currently prevent people from giving a kidney. Supporting living donors means supporting families, saving lives, and ensuring that fewer individuals must endure the prolonged suffering of dialysis to sustain life. The measures in this proposed LOVE Act are crucial in encouraging more people to step forward as living kidney donors by reducing financial and logistical barriers.

The lack of living donors is a national issue, but the impact is deeply personal for the families involved. ESKD affects not only the patient but also the entire family and community. It is not uncommon for patients on dialysis to experience depression, isolation, and financial hardship as they try to maintain their health while managing daily responsibilities. Living kidney donation provides hope and an opportunity for ESKD patients to return to normal lives.

barriers that prevent potential Medicine at WVU.

donors from coming forward. Both the IOTA Model and the LOVE Act offer hope by addressing the financial and logistical challenges of living donation. But to make this a reality, we need the support of healthcare professionals, lawmakers, and the general public. It is time to ensure that every individual, regardless of their background or financial situation, has the opportunity to give and receive the gift of life.

Living donation is a profoundly generous act that deserves our utmost support. Let us work together to increase awareness, reduce financial and logistical obstacles, and ultimately save more lives through living kidney donation. The people of West Virginia, and indeed all across our nation, deserve nothing less.

KATIE McDOWELL Pops and I agree: Senior dogs are tops

THE "MEMORIES" FUNCTION ON FACE-BOOK NEVER CEASES TO AMAZE ME. Sometimes it can bring such a smile to one's face. Other times, it'll kick you right in the teeth.

Then there are the ones that cut both ways - those bittersweet reminders of life's betterto-have-loved-and-losts.

Like the photo equivalent of a really good sad song.

For me, that often means a picture of my precious Pops - the first senior dog I ever adopted and the reason I will continue adopting senior pets for the rest of my days.

As the card from the staff at Hillcrest Veterinary Clinic said - the one they sent after seeing us through his last breath -Pops was a legend.

He was painfully sweet, and so patient with Moo; the two played together like puppies. They were best friends from Minute 1, and when Pops got sick, Moo would lay on top of him, in an effort to comfort them both.

Pops also had this amazing checkerboard grin - the canine embodiment of that old 'summer teeth," joke, as in, "some are over here, some are over there." Some were missing altogether. With a lower incisor that stuck straight out that was perhaps my favorite thing on the planet. I cried when they told me they had to pull it.

He was a true Frankendog, in the very best sense of the word, with a pit bull-like head and a wide Rotty body, perched atop short little bow legs with the stump of a tail at the rear. His face - his glorious, mostly-gray face - was peppered with mystery scars, including one that looked as though his lower lip

Harpers Ferry: Where American history meets the great outdoors

dominionpost.com :

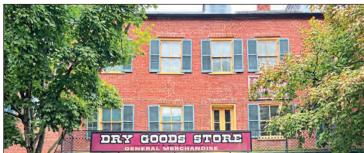

Gretchen McKay/Pittsburgh Post-Gazette/TNS

It's a strenuous, 4 1/2-mile hike from Lower Town to the Maryland Heights Overlook, which offers a spectacular birds-eye view of Harpers Ferry.

BY GRETCHEN MCKAY

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette (TNS) HARPERS FERRY - Nestled along two converging rivers, with the Blue Ridge Mountains' precipitous cliffs offering a backdrop, Harpers Ferry has long been praised for its rugged natural beauty.

Thomas Jefferson was defia fan. After visiting mery the West Virginia town at the height of fall color in October 1783, he wrote that "the passage of the Patowmac (Potomac) through the Blue Ridge is perhaps one of the most stupendous scenes in Nature.... It is as placid and delightful as that is wild and tremendous.... This scene is worth a voyage across the Atlantic.' The town named for millwright Robert Harper in 1747 soon became one of our third president's favorite retreats, and today, the mound of Harpers shale on which he stood to survey the water gap below is a popular destination along the Appalachian Trail. George Washington was more impressed by the small town's "inexhaustible supply of water," though for reasons other than today's passion for tubing, rafting and kayaking on white water. Its gushing natural resources led the former president and wealthy landowner to choose Harpers Ferry for a new national armory in 1796. It turned what had been a somewhat sleepy hamlet into a prosperous industrial village. Between 1801 and 1861, the town produced 600.000 muskets, rifles and pistols for the Army. Yet this easternmost town in West Virginia didn't gain national fame until the Civil War. It was here, in 1859, that abolitionist John Brown and his small group of men seized the armory in hopes of starting an uprising in the South against slavery. The raid itself was unsuccessful. His party was surrounded by federal troops, taking heavy casualties, and Brown was hanged in December 1859 after being convicted of murder, treason and inciting enslaved people to revolt. Many believe that it was the "spark" that ignited the Civil War. If you love history, it lives further into the past. on at Harpers Ferry, which became a national historic park lished a ferry across the Poto- built in 1848 as housing for the armory paymaster, it transitioned after the Civil War into living quarters for formerly enslaved men and women at Storer College, a historically Black college that operated from 1867 to 1955.

Lower Town also includes an industry museum, a 19th-century "landscape" that will fascinate the kids and both Civil War and Black History museums. And if you climb the rocky set of 44 steps that were carved into the hillside in 1810 behind the museums, you can take in a view of the city below from the stone patio of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church.

had been torn straight through to his chin.

And my God, I adored him. According to the vet, he was probably around 10 years old on the day I brought him home, and, if that age was correct, just shy of 12 when I said goodbye. By then, tumors had obliterated that brilliant checkerboard grin, growing so large in his snout that they overtook one eye.

When I tell people about my passion for rescuing older animals, they almost always say the same thing. "I just couldn't," they tell me. "I would hate to lose them so soon."

And I get it. Adopting a senior pet does potentially mean they have fewer years ahead.

But that's precisely the point. Their time left here is precious - which makes the gift of spending it together even more so.

I write all this because November is National Adopt a Senior Pet Month, and I can't think of a more fitting tribute to my Pops - and my silly Manny after him, and now my angelic Tulip, whose arthritis has been acting up more frequently lately - than to urge you to open your home to one, too.

Choosing to adopt, not shop for any animal is an admirable decision. Picking an aging one, well, I applaud it double. I promise the reward will be all yours.

The fact is, yes, you will lose them, and it will hurt like crazy.

And yes, that may come far sooner than you'd like.

But the love. Oh, the limitless love

That, itself, is endless. Sad though it may be sometimes, that beautiful old-dog ballad is one you'll sing happily in your heart, on repeat.

Historic Harpers Ferry Lower Town includes a dry goods store.

John Brown's raid, and the Civil War — Stonewall Jackson captured more than 12,500 Union troops here, the largest single capture of Federal forces in the entire war — but American history, industry, transportation and natural heritage.

And if you find joy in hiking, cycling, mountaineering or paddling? You will find lots to do in and around this picturesque town on the Shenandoah and Potomac rivers. There also are numerous shops and restaurants, including in nearby Bolivar, if eating, drinking and shopping are high on your to-do list.

Food for thought

History buffs love Harpers Ferry because it played an important role in the Civil War. And walking around charming Lower Town gives the feeling of stepping back in time. One of the most visited historic sites is the only Armory building to escape destruction during the Civil War: John Brown's Fort, where the abolitionist and several followers barricaded themselves during the final hours of their doomed raid. In 1891, it was dismantled and transported to Chicago for the World's Fair.

Other buildings reach even

> In addition to buying supplies and weapons, Meriwether Lewis had craftsmen design a lightweight iron frame for a boat he'd need once he got to shallower water out west. The boat, which was later outfitted with animal hides, was a disaster, sinking right away. But as you learn in the park's exhibit space on Potomac Street, across the street from the town's historic Victorian train station, that was the fault of the animal hides — not the ironwork of the town's (excellent) craftsmen.

> Harpers Ferry had become a ghost town by the 1950s and was reconstructed by the Park Service in the '60s as a "multi-leveled interpretive proving ground."

The great outdoors

West Virginia is famous for its variety of outdoor activities on both land and water, and Harpers Ferry does not disappoint. The Appalachian Trail, one of America's most famous footpaths, passes through Lower Town, and visitors can trek or bike the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal towpath that runs along the banks of the Potomac River. (You'll find maps at the Visitors Center.)

If you don't mind breaking a sweat and have a few hours, a moderately strenuous but rewarding hike follows the Maryland Heights trailhead to Overlook Cliff. The climb is both steep (1,154 feet uphill) and long (a 4.5-mile loop). But when you get to the top, the view of Harpers Ferry below is bucket-list spectacular. And be forewarned: It takes fluids to get to the top and there are no restrooms (or water) on the trail. You'll have to hold it for hours, especially if you pack a lunch!

The cliffside overlook also can be dangerous if you're hiking with small children or are wearing the wrong shoes. There's no fencing to stop anyone from toppling over the rocks — and people can get pretty close to the edge for that perfect Instagram photo.

Also Insta worthy, but on more solid ground: the rock climbers that can frequently be spotted scaling the southern face of a 300-foot vertical cliff leading to Maryland Heights.

The strange new twist in Pierre's behavior

OUR PIERRE WILL SOON BE 12 YEARS OLD. A DOG THAT AGE IS DEFINITELY GETTING ON, DEFINITELY AGING. APPARENT-LY NO ONE HAS PASSED that information on to Pierre. His puppy behavior is still part of his character. He still rips and tears around the house. He sometimes still stays out exploring bushes and trees on our property late at night, refusing to come inside when Rob calls him so they can go to bed. He will grab anything from the table or kitchen counters and once in a while decides to eat one of Rob's books. The only difference we see is some graying around his muzzle, some arthritis in his left leg that occasionally acts up and many daytime naps. Not that there have not been changes in some of his habitual behavior. In fact Pierre has adopted some strange habits all on his own. A weird new twist came along just a couple of weeks ago. We are still trying to put the pieces of the puzzle together, figure out what brought on this behavior and how to deal with it.

About two weeks ago Noelle and Max brought their French bulldog,

Beauregard, for a weekend visit. Beau and Pierre are good friends. They chase each other, tussle and play and sleep together on the couches. When Beau left with his family late in the evening all seemed normal. The next morning Pierre refused to come into the kitchen for his breakfast. He sat on the dining room rug at the entrance to the kitchen looking sad and forlorn. I thought perhaps the arthritis in his leg was acting up and it was too painful to walk. I filled his food bowl and set it and his water bowl in front of him in the dining room, then gave him his medication. Problem solved...so I thought.

Lunchtime came. Pierre had been out in the backyard, exploring, chasing the toy Rob threw for him and generally being his normal, happy self. As I prepared his chicken and kibble for lunch he watched me from the hallway leading into the kitchen. When I set the food down he stared at it, then began to whine and bark. He took a couple of steps into the kitchen but would not go far enough to get to his food. Pierre's food dish and water bowl are placed in a metal stand especially made to elevate the food and water bowls high enough off the floor for easier eating. This stand sits on a small rug directly below the double ovens, where it is conveniently out of the way. I moved the food stand a couple of feet away from its usual place, called Pierre to come in and he gingerly walked to the stand and chomped down on the food, even scraping the sides of the bowl with his tongue.

As the days went on Pierre would cautiously come into the kitchen anytime we were sitting at the table for a meal, but still refused to go near his food bowl. I finally moved his bowls away from their usual place permanently. Now the stand is placed, rather inconveniently, in front of a low cupboard.

Each time I need something from that cupboard, I must pull the rug holding the food stand away from the cupboard, then return it. What happened to make Pierre so afraid of a particular spot in the kitchen? We wondered if it had anything to do with Beau's visit or something about those ovens above his food stand. Only Pierre knows and he's not talking!

WHEN I SET THE FOOD DOWN HE STARED AT IT, THEN BEGAN TO WHINE AND BARK.

DATING These photos don't belong in your profile

Tribune News Service (TNS)

As anyone who's swiped on Tinder, Hinge or Bumble can attest, some of the photos our eyes come across, well, leave a lot to be desired. In fact, the photos you choose can make or break your profile before someone even reads your bio (which will obviously be well-crafted if you've been taking my advice!). In my 13+ years of helping people with their online dating profiles, I've seen some amazing success stories—often due to great photos, at least as the first step. But I've also seen too many mistakes to name... and mv eves will never be the same. Want to know which photos not to post?

1. Group shots galore We get it. You're popular! You have friends! That's great. But if all of your photos are group shots (honestly, even if hiding what's underneath. And last I checked, bald can be quite sexy! 3. Too many filtered or edited photos I'll admit that filters can be fun, but not in your dating profile. Filters can make you seem like you're hiding something or aren't confident about how you look. It's OK to post flattering pictures, but they still need to be you. Keep the filters, Photoshop, and heavy editing out of your profile. The goal is for someone to recognize you when they meet you in person, not wonder if you've sent vour stunt double.

5. Overly sexy or suggestive shots

You want to look attractive in your photos, but there's a line between sexy and overly suggestive. Posting a shirtless mirror pic or a bikini shot can send the wrong message. Remember that you're looking for a potential partner, not just someone who swipes right because they think you're hot. Access to seeing your more intimate bits should be earned and consented to.

too difficult for someone to figure out who you are. If someone has to play "Where's Waldo?", it's not doing you any favors. In addition, even if someone does successfully just one is), it makes it

identify you, your friend may be just their type. Your profile is a chance for you to shine. Make it easy on people. You can easily crop group photos just to showcase yourself.

2. Sunglasses and/or hats in every picture

I know you love those aviators, but wearing sunglasses in every photo is not doing you any favors. Your eyes are one of the most expressive parts of your face, and when someone's looking to connect with you online, seeing your eyes can help create that connection. One photo with sunglasses might work—if you're on a beach or out hiking-but variety is key. Same with hats... stop

4. Gym selfies

Unless fitness is an integral part of your identity and you want to connect with someone who shares that passion, steer clear of the gym selfie. I know you want to show off your hard work, but there are more creative ways to showcase your active lifestyle. Why not post a picture of yourself hiking, playing tennis or playing a sport you love? That way, you're not only showing your fit side but also giving people a glimpse into what you enjoy doing in your free time.

6. Old or misleading photos

This might seem obvious, but you'd be surprised at how often people post photos from years ago, thinking no one will notice. While you might feel nostalgic about how you looked five years ago, or think "I haven't changed at all!" (I hear it all the time), but, alas, we all age. Your dating profile should reflect who you are now. The right person will be interested in you as you are today, not in a past version or an illusion. Don't set yourself up for an awkward first date by misrepresenting yourself.

7. Photos with your ex

I can't believe I still have to say this, but photos with your ex should never make it into your dating profile. It sends the wrong message, making it look like you're not quite over your past relationship... or are still in it!

The photos you post are your first impression, so make sure they're sending the right message. Choose pictures that are recent, clear, and reflective of your personality. And, most importantly, make sure they're authentic.

HEALTH & WELLNESS Pistachios and lutein: How nutrition can affect your eye health

Q: My eye doctor recommended that I take a nutritional supplement to help protect my eyes from macular degeneration, but I have heard that some foods can also be helpful. Is this true and what would they be?

A: Generally all supplements contain ingredients that one could theoretically get in foods. Unfortunately, most Americans do not eat a very healthy diet, and do not get important nutrients through the foods they eat. This is a good example.

For macular degeneration prevention, many eye docs have recommended supplements for years to provide antioxidants and carotenoids for retinal health. Carotenoids are essentially forms of pigment that serve in the eye to absorb radiation (light) and protect the retinal layers. You're not allowed to climb onto the Harpers shale slab that gave Jefferson such pleasure, but you'll share his terrific view. Continue up the hill a little farther and you'll hit the Appalachian Trail on your way to Camp Hill, the 32-acre site that once housed Storer College and is now owned by the Park Service.

Harpers Ferry is considered the halfway point of the trail, and during the season weary-looking hikers are a common sight around town and on the towpath across the Potomac. Many stop at the trail's hikers' lounge on Washington Street to rest or take a picture on its front porch. So far in 2024, visitor center rep Dave Tarasevich has counted more than 1,240 northbound hikers.

"It's one of the few places where the trail goes through town, literally," he said.

Water sports, including fishing, are also popular here. Some people canoe and kayak through October; there's also white water rafting in season. You also can go horseback riding.

unwind with some good food and drink. While you won't find big-city gourmet eats, you can get a pretty good meal at several places around town.

I had a tasty salad made with microfarm hemp hearts, greens, tomatoes and avocado on the patio at The Rabbit Hole, and a pretty good burger at Coach House Bar and Grill.

For coffee, fresh-baked pastries and sandwiches, head to Battle Grounds Bakery & Coffee. If you don't eat meat, West Virginia's very first vegan restaurant — Kelley Farm Kitchen in Bolivar - has got you covered with salads, Impossible burgers, hoagies and ramen bowls.

Other sources are kale, collard greens and broccoli. We advise patients that if they do eat a good serving of these foods each day, likely a supplement is not needed. But most people do not eat such foods every single day, so a supplement like Macuhealth is a good addition to your diet.

One caution, just lately there is a growing problem with online sales of many supplements. Turns out many products have little or you're going to want to you? In boutiques along High Street and Public Way, you'll find everything from original art and distinctive jewelry crafted by regional hands to old-fashioned candy and confections, antiques and hokey souvenirs.

Getting there

Harpers Ferry, West Virginia, is about a 3 1/2-hour drive from Pittsburgh on mostly highway roads (Interstates 76 and 70). If you'd rather be chauffeured, it's about a six-hour ride on Amtrak, and the train drops you off right in town. A one-way fare runs $65-$220, depending on class. Once there, it's easy to get around town by foot or bike.

An avid cyclist? Harpers Ferry is at mile 60.7 on the C&O Canal Towpath.

If you do drive, it costs $20 to enter the park (for three consecutive days) and both metered parking and park parking are extremely limited in Lower Town: on weekends it's best to park at the Visitors Center at Just know that every- 171 Shoreline Drive and take the free shuttle into town.

products online, and beware of "equivalent" substitutes.

There is so much inaccurate "advice" online these days it is hard to know who to believe, but this news about pistachios appears to be valid and useful.

At 50, Hello Kitty is as 'kawaii' and lucrative as ever

BY YURI KAGEYAMA AND LISA LEFF Associated Press

TOKYO — Hello Kitty turns 50 on Friday. Befitting a pop icon at midlife, the bubble-headed, bow-wearing character's fictional birthday has brought museum exhibits, a theme park spectacle and a national tour. And that's just in Japan, her literal birthplace but not the one listed in her official biography.

Confused? Welcome to the party. If there's one thing about Hello Kitty, it's that she's proven adaptable and as much a study in contrasts during her long career. She — and Kitty is a she. according to the company that owns her — may have been conceived as a vessel for the feelings of others, but some women see an empowering symbol in her mouthless face.

"Shrewd" is how Mika Nishimura, a design professor at Tokyo's Meisei University, describes the way Hello Kitty conquered the worlds of commerce, fashion and entertainment. As a tabula rasa open to interpretation, the non-threatening creation was the perfect vehicle for making money, she said.

"American feminists have said she doesn't say anything and acquiesces to everyone. But in Japan, we also see how she may appear happy if you're happy, and sad if you're feeling sad," Nishimura told The Associated Press. "It's a product strategy that's sheer genius. By being so adaptable, Kitty gets all those collaborative deals."

The character's semicentennial is evidence of that. Sanrio, the Japanese entertainment company that holds the rights to Hello Kitty's name and image, kicked off the festivities a year ago with an animation account on TikTok, Roblox games and an avatar for the social networking app Zepeto. There have been anniversary editions of merchandise ranging from pet collars, cosmetics and McDonald's Happy Meals to Crocs and a Baccarat crystal figurine. A gold coin pendant with the image of Hello Kitty holding the number 50 is selling for about 120,000 ven ($800), while a Casio watch costs 18,700 yen ($120).

and Snoopy, Hello Kitty didn't start as a cartoon. A young Sanrio illustrator named Yuko Shimizu drew her in 1974 as a decoration for stationery, tote bags, cups and other small accessories. The design made its debut on a coin purse the next year and became an instant hit in Japan.

As Hello Kitty's commercial success expanded beyond Asia, so did her personal profile. By the late 1970s, Sanrio revealed the character's name as Kitty White, her height as five apples tall and her birthplace as suburban London, where the company said she lived with her parents and twin sister Mimmy.

"The main theme of Hello Kitty is friendship. When I first created it. I made a family of which Kitty was a part. But then Hello Kitty started to appear in other settings as the character grew," Shimizu told the BBC in June. "Sanrio put a lot of effort into building the brand into what it is today."

At some point, Sanrio designated Kitty's birthday as Nov. 1, the same as Shimizu's. Her background was embellished with hobbies that included playing piano, reading and baking. Her TV appearances required co-stars, including a pet cat named Charmmy Kitty that made its debut 20 years ago.

But Hello Kitty's 40th birthday brought an update that astonished fans. Sanrio clarified to a Los Angeles museum curator that Kitty, despite her feline features, was a little girl. A company spokesperson repeated the distinction this year, renewing debate online about the requirements for being considered cute, girlish styles were popular in Japan. But the word is used often in Japanese society, and not only to describe babies and puppies.

An elderly man, something as innocuous as an umbrella, a subcompact car or a kitchen utensil, or even a horror movie monster can get labeled "kawaii." By Western standards, the idea may seem embarrassingly frivolous. But it's taken seriously in Japan, where the concept is linked with the most honorable instincts.

The complexity of "kawaii" may help explain Hello Kitty's enduring appeal across generations and cultures, why Canadian singer-songwriter Avril Lavigne released a song titled "Hello Kitty" a decade ago, and why Britain's King Charles wished Hello Kitty a happy 50th birthday when he hosted Japan's Emperor Naruhito and Empress Masako at Buckingham Palace in June.

Although Hello Kitty may seem to embody the self-sacrificing woman stereotype, it's revealing that three women have served as the character's chief designers at Sanrio. Yuko Yamaguchi, who has held the role since 1980, is credited with keeping the character both modern and timeless, giving Kitty black outfits or false evelashes as trends dictated but never removing the bow from her left ear.

"Hello Kitty, this cultural object, has something to tell us about the history of women in East Asia, and how East Asian women modernized themselves and became professional citizens in a modern society," the University of Oregon's

But first, more on the origin story.

Unlike Mickey Mouse

human.

"She is supposed to be Kitty White and English. But this is part of the enigma: Who is Hello Kitty? We can't figure it out. We don't even know if she is a cat," art historian Joyce S. Cheng, a University of Oregon associate professor, said. "There is an unresolved indeterminacy about her that is so amazing."

Part of the confusion stems from a misunderstanding of "kawaii," which is Japanese for "cute" but also connotes a lovable or adorable essence. Sanrio recruited Shimizu and other illustrators to create "kawaii" characters at a time when Cheng said.

Sanrio has come up with hundreds of creatures, all adorable and cuddly, but none with the lasting power of Hello Kitty. Forget the understated wabi-sabi aesthetic historically associated with Japan. A chameleon-like cat-girl who reflects unabashed kitsch is the cultural ambassador of a consumer-crazed, happy-go-lucky nation.

"It's the anti-wabi sabi, wanting to be as flashy and as bling-bling as possible, like Lady Gaga. In your face, but that's actually part of the genius, too. It's powerful," Cheng said.

ARIES (March 21-April 19).

There's a mystery wrapped around a certain relationship, and your mind is spinning as you try to crack the puzzle. The muses are on your side.TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Should emojis be punctuation? If they were, vou'd master the communication style because you're so tapped in to how everyone is feeling.GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Inside your head can be a colorful, magical place, especially when your outside world supports this. The support isn't always an encouraging, safe outer world, though. CANCER (June 22-July 22). There are parts of your life that you can't change just yet, but don't worry -- your moment is coming. In the meantime, you'll master what's within your power and you'll be ready when the bigger pieces fall into place.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). When the student is ready, the teachers appear. It's as though your questions have some kind of conjuring power, attractive to the ones with the answers you need most. Your curiosity is a superpower.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You've got reasons to get moving, and none of them have to do with burning calories. Something magical happens in motion -- thoughts flow, creativity ignites, fresh hope alights.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Today, you'll serve others well, and you'll be well served in return. The dynamic will be one of strange alchemy, producing riches that could never be made by any independent party. It's the mix of energies that brings the magic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21).

A particular relationship will be front and center in your mind all day. If this relationship had a soundtrack, what would the theme song be? Moods trend in a delightful direction.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec.

21). Perspective requires both closeness and distance, a zoom in and a zoom out. You can't get that in isolation. Let others assist as you gather information about the different possible ways to view and understand a situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan.

19). You'd rather be a co-creator of shared experiences than stand out in a crowd today. You may even downplay your strengths to make others feel more comfortable. You know how strong you are, so you don't need others to validate it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb.

18). Bringing loved ones into your ambitions feels strange because you never can tell how different people from various parts of your world will mix. Today's vibes make for fortunate social blends.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Power isn't just in numbers but in the emotional and social dynamics around it. Matters of finance will play a role in this. Just remember that the value of money is in the agreement between

SANTA FOR SENIORS

'Tis the season for making wishes come true and giving back to others. Make your holidays a bit brighter by becoming a "Santa" for one of our isolated senior clients. Visit our Facebook page to choose a deserving older adult (or a few) that may not have the Merriest Christmas without your help. Wish lists will be posted and just let us know who you would like to shop for. Then put your shopping skills to work by purchasing a few of the items on their list. After wrapping them in gift wrap befitting the season, drop your present sack off at our office. Our delivery elves make sure that these thoughtfully gathered gifts arrive at their senior's home.

If your business, agency, or service would like to be a part of the Senior Expo, please contact vlong@seniormons.org.

HOME DELIVERED MEALS

The Home Delivered Meals program was designed to offer a delicious and nutritious meal to older adults who are homebound due to age, illness, and/or circumstance. Drivers not only deliver the meal, but they make well-checks as they speak to the clients. Deliveries will be made Tuesday through Friday. Clients will receive a hot or cold meal on each of these days. They will also receive a frozen meal on Fridays to be used for Mondays.

Who is eligible to receive meals? Monongalia county residents at least 60 years of age or older and meet other requirements. This service can be used on a long-term or a temporary basis. To make sure that seniors don't go hungry, our HDM program is available to the client for a suggested donation.

If you have questions or are interested in the Home Delivered Meals program, call 304-296-9812.

Monetary donations are greatly appreciated. Send your tax-deductible donation to Senior Monongalians, P.O. Box 653, Morgantown, WV 26505.

Squatters on your property

I'm not an attorney. That's a common thing to say when someone crosses into an area where they aren't an expert and that's what I'm saying now, to be honest. I want to raise awareness, but don't want you to think I'm the subject matter expert on this subject.

So, today's topic is about squatters. Let's start by defining 'squatter'. According to Investopedia, a squatter is "one who settles in or occupies a piece of property with no legal claim to that property. A squatter lives on a property to which they have no title, right, or lease."

States have varying laws. For that matter, there could be some who lack any laws on this. In some states, squatters can actually obtain 'Adverse Possession', which is a scenario in which a squatter might have had continuous possession without directly infringing on the true owner's rights during that period. In this scenario, a court might end up protecting the squatter over the rightful owner! This is one example of 'Squatters Rights' and without getting overly political, the variance in laws can differ between blue & red states.

Before coming to the Morgantown area, I once listed an apartment building in Parkersburg. The owner lived out of state but travelled to meet me at the complex. Upon entering one of the units, we immediately realized a squatter had been residing. I became extremely alert for a possible confrontation, but it turned out that he or she wasn't present at that moment. However, guess who was? The pet rabbit, and this rabbit left us plenty of landmines...if you know what I mean.

I have friends who are landlords and have endured similar situations. Like I alluded to at the beginning, I'm not able to offer legal advice, but Ask Angi: Do I need to have an energy audit of my home?

An energy audit can show ways to improve a home's energy efficiency and lower heating and cooling costs.

Test can help determine where and how a residence loses energy — and money

If you're looking for a way to reduce your monthly ener- three parts: gy bill, it might be time for an energy audit. From making your home more eco-friendly to lowering your energy bills, energy audits have a lot of benefits. Here's a breakdown of energy audits and how they can help you. An energy audit is a comprehensive test that helps you find the areas of your home that are losing the most energy. And every bit of heating or cooling lost translates directly into lower comfort and higher energy bills. You can do a minor energy audit yourself, but I recommend bringing in a professional auditor for a more thorough test. Energy audits can also help test your home for safety and health issues. The price for an audit varies based on your region, size of home and the specific tests you order; however, the average cost is about $400.

Evaluation

This is the initial visual inspection, where your auditor will walk around the interior tests include: and exterior of your home to look for anything that might placed at your door measures the most common solutions to cause leaks. They'll check for airflow and pressure inside problems that emerge during visible problems and areas that are likely to hide cracks where air is being lost. On the perimeter of your home, expect them to look at your concrete, cracked, walls. eaves, windows and roofing. Inside, they'll pay particular attention to the attic, HVAC system, filter, ducts and water heater. (Often you'll find that even small cracks can cause a lot of trouble. An inch-wide hole in your ducts can cause significant energy loss.)

They generally include sure the integrity, health and in your roof, or service your safety of your home. These HVAC system. please consider a few things.

1. Don't leave your vacant properties unchecked for lengthy periods. The length of time a squatter is present (at least in some states), the more legal protection they could have.

2. Learn the difference between squatters, trespassers and holdover tenants. It's one thing to evict a tenant, but trying to evict a trespasser or squatter, could imply they were previously there legally.

3. Please realize that turning off utilities to drive someone away, could have legal complications. Consult legal counsel!

Portland, Oregon developer, George McCleary, has appeared on numerous Real Estate podcasts. He's prominent on social media and offers lots of advice. He tells of stories in which property owners have resorted to rather creative methods of encouraging squatters or trespassers to leave the premises. He's citied incidents of property owners introducing rats and snakes into a home, but he also says you shouldn't try to handle a situation on your own. Not only are there possible legal nightmares, but there's the possibility of someone getting hurt if a physical confrontation were to take place.

No matter if 'Squatters Rights' are right or wrong, they exist. I do not defend illegal activity but do realize that a squatter you may encounter, might be desperate. Don't do anything rash and please be careful.

Surviving examples of football bank show damage from collisions

Football fans might consider it a calamity if their favorite team loses. The calamity bank made by J. & E. Stevens in the early 1900s depicts a different kind of football disaster: Insert a coin and the three players' heads collide.

Frequent collisions over time often damaged the figures, making it rare for today's collectors to find an example in good condition. The few that still exist are quite valuable. This one, featuring a college football game with a fullback from Yale and two tacklers from Harvard, sold at RSL Auction Company for $8,027. If anything, the bank's propensity to damage makes it more realistic.

College football in the early 1900s was dangerous. Players did not wear helmets, had little protective gear and often deliberately injured their opponents. Reportedly. more than a dozen players died in 1905 from injuries during games. Football safety became a national issue; President Theodore Roosevelt met with Ivv League football coaches to discuss it. This led to the formation of the Intercollegiate Athletic Association, a precursor to the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA). Improved regulations and better protective gear made the game safer. Further improvements are still being made.

Q: Do you have any recommendations on how to determine the value of an autograph I have of John F. Kennedy from 1962?

A: You can consult a local antiques dealer or antiquarian book dealer for assistance. Some coin and stamp dealers also handle autographs. If there aren't any appropriate dealers in your area, you may want to contact a national auction house that specializes in autographs, like Nate D. Sanders (natedsanders. com); or political and historical memorabilia, like RR Auction (rrauction.com), or Hake's Auctions (hakes.com); or even rare books, like Swann Auction Galleries (swanngalleries.com) or University Archives (universityarchives.com). A word of caution: John F. Kennedy was known to use an autopen or signing machine for some autographs. Autographs made with an autopen have lower values than ones made by hand. If you do not know if your autograph was done by hand or made with an autopen, there are professional autograph authenticators who can help you find out

Q: I look forward to vour column in our Springfield, Massachusetts, Republican Newspaper. I now have come to realize the importance of antique clocks. They are like a lost child waiting to be adopted, cared for and fed. At one time, I inherited five of them and gave three to my children. The oldest clocks were from the 1890s when there was no electricity and were a treasured necessity for every family. I implore all readers to look in their basements, attics and all closets for hidden forgotten clocks. Ask your relatives if they know of any clocks. If you find any, then you need to find a skilled clock repair person to confirm they are in fine working order. You might have to ask a good jewelry store for a reference or even a friend who owns one, who they use for service. Perhaps in one of your columns, you can give a short history of the antique clock.

A: Thank you for sharing your appreciation for antique clocks! We have heard the saying "A ticking clock is the heartbeat of the home." Even the name "grandfather clock" and the song that inspired it capture the sentimentality and family connections these clocks can hold. We often hear from readers who would like to identify or learn the value of inherited clocks. An antique clock can last for hundreds of years with proper care and maintenance. Most people look for clocks to decorate or keep time in a home even if they are not otherwise interested in antiques. A short history of the antique clock is an excellent idea. The trouble would be keeping it short! The history of clocks is also a history of technology and design. There are many types of clocks, styles and makers to cover. The pendulum clock was invented in the 1600s. Spring technology in the 1700s made carriage clocks, the first portable clocks, possible. Connecticut clockmaker Eli Terry patented a smaller clock mechanism in 1816 and started making shelf clocks by machine. Battery-powered clocks were made by the late 1800s but were not common in the U.S. until the 1930s. If you would like to learn more about clocks, look for books like "American Shelf and Wall Clocks" by Robert W.D. Ball, "The Warner Collector's Guide to American Clocks" by Anita Schorsch or "Miller's Buyer's Guide: Clocks & Barometers" at your library. For more information, or to find clock restorers in your area, look to a collector's club like the National Association of Watch & Clock Collectors, Inc. (nawcc.org).

City approves $6.5M to clean up and protect Rays stadium after Hurricane

When mortgage rates increase they can add hundreds of dollars a month in costs for borrowers, reducing homebuyers' purchasing power at a time when home prices remain near alltime highs though the housing market is in a sales slump going back to 2022.

The average rate on a 30-year home loan hasn't been this high since Aug. 1, when it was 6.73%.

Mortgage rates are influenced by several factors, including how the bond market reacts to the Federal Reserve's interest rate policy decisions of the 10-year Treasury Khater, Freddie yield, which lenders use chief economist.

Insider0&A How will markets react to election?

Steven Wieting Chief Economist and Chief Market Strategist Citi Wealth

Presidential elections can influence financial markets for weeks before and after the votes are counted. So far, this year's contest has produced a similar pattern.

How, then, should investors prepare for Election Day and its aftermath? What would a win for Vice President Kamala Harris or Republican Donald Trump mean for investors?

The Associated Press posed that question to Steven Wieting, chief economist and chief market strategist at Citi Wealth. His main advice to investors: Don't do anything rash.

How have the markets reacted so far?

We're seeing signs within markets about apprehension over the election. Don't let these short-term movements derail your long-term financial planning. The uncertainty over election results tends to fade quickly once we have them. The last calendar-vear election vear in vhich we had a rise in the

HELLO KITTY TURNING 50

Hello Kitty turns 50 on Friday. Befitting a pop icon at midlife, the bubble-headed, bow-wearing character's fictional birthday has brought museum exhibits, a theme park spectacle and a national tour. And that's just in Japan, her literal birthplace but not the one listed in her official biography. If there's one thing about Hello Kitty, it's that she's proven adaptable and as much a study in contrasts during her long career. She may have been conceived as a vessel for the feelings of others, but some women see an empowering symbol in her mouthless face.

of October for U.S. stocks was 2004

The November and December periods have been positive in election years in every case going back to 2004, with the exception of 2008, when the economy was experiencing a collapse. So there's a lot of apprehension, and then there's going to be some relief, though whether it plays out exactly like that in this case, I'm not so sure.

How should investors prepare? They should be cautious about jumping to immediate conclusions, as markets are likely to be volatile. And you just want to step back from it a little bit.

How might the markets react to a win for Trump or for Harris? For investors in U.S. stocks, the returns - I'm just rounding to the full number — under President Trump were 16% annualized, and under President Biden it's been 14% annualized.

We understand that the two candidates have very different policies. And if you were an investor across the world in global equities, it will matter a lot whether, on the one side, we boost demand and restrain foreign supplies under the policies proposed under candidate Trump. Or do we essentially stick with the status quo, which I think investors would appreciate that easing monetary policy is something that will impact assets around the world.

How might investors protect themselves from the volatility?

We want to encourage global diversification because the U.S. has had such good fortune, and good fortune never lasts forever. We don't see a recession for the United States on the horizon. And we have to remember that the U.S. economy has expanded in 85% of all months since World War II. Annual stock returns have been positive in about 75% of all years. We don't have a command economy where one person in office gets to decide whether we grow or shrink. That's the good news.

Swing-state housing market: Will you be able to afford a home?

By Michael Dinich

Wealth of Geeks

Is the future generation of homeowners set up to fail?

Ahead of the upcoming U.S. presidential election, a new study of 1,000 adults from the seven swing states found that 61% of parents polled are worried about whether their children will be able to buy a home as they get older.

Over the past five years, 80%of adults in Arizona, Georgia, Michigan, North Carolina, Nevada, Pennsylvania, and Wisconsin have seen housing prices increase in their state, averaging a 33% increase.

Arizona has seen the steepest housing cost increase at 38%, while Wisconsin saw the least (27%).

Mexican film on an epic scale

Garcia-Rulfo, Huerta star in 'Pedro Paramo'

By Dana Simpson TV Media

nyone who has ever visited Mexi-Aco (or watched a travel show set in the country) already knows that it is an ancient and dynamic land teeming with good food, colorful tapestries and a rich culture devoted to honoring the dead. While many non-Mexicans may have been introduced to its culture through American films such as "Coco" (2017) and "The Mask of Zorro" (1998) or the artsy biographical drama "Frida" (2002), Mexico has its own vibrant cinema history, which was celebrated by Netflix with a news release announcing "Pedro Paramo" this past August.

To be released just four days after Mexico's Day of the Dead observances, "Pedro Paramo" sets the tone for the country's next holiday: Revolution Day. At once a stunning visual feast and an epic tale of one man's complicated family history, "Pedro Paramo" premieres Wednesday, Nov. 6, on Netflix.

Based on the 1955 novel of the same name by late Mexican author Juan Rulfo, "Pedro Paramo" follows the titular character's son, Juan Preciado (Tenoch Huerta, "The Forever Purge," 2021), as he promises his dying mother that he will return to Comala, the town where he was born, to find the father he never knew. Along the way, he discovers that the remote town is not the prosperous hub he had been led to believe it was, but rather a ghost town in every sense of the word.

Driven on his quest by a desire to fill in the missing pieces of his family history, Juan encounters all manner of people — some living, others long dead — who help him to understand the nuances of the hope (and the lack thereof) attached to family values, complicated blood ties and personal goals.

Adapted from the source material by writer Mateo Gil ("Vanilla Sky," 2001), "Pedro Paramo" is the first feature directed by four-time Oscarnominated cinematographer Rodrigo Prieto ("Brokeback Mountain," 2005). The 133-minute, Spanish-language film made its official debut at this year's Toronto International Film Festival, where it was described as "a mesmerizing story of desire, corruption and inheritance."

Starring "The Lincoln Lawyer's" Manuel Garcia-Rulfo in the film's titular role, "Pedro Paramo" also stars Mayra Batalla ("Huesera: The Bone Woman," 2022), Ilse Salas ("The Good Girls," 2018), Hector Kotsifakis ("The Inmate"), Giovanna Zacarias ("On the Road," 2012), Ari Brickman ("Crime Diaries: The Candidate"), Gabriela Nunez ("Prayers for the Stolen," 2021), Dolores Heredia ("Vantage Point," 2008) and Noé Hernandez ("La Reina del Sur").

In the official TIFF description of Netflix's newest film. Colombian-Canadian festival programmer Diana Cadavid writes that "in Comala, nothing is as it seems.

"Juan speaks with someone, only to be informed that person has died," Cadavid's TIFF synopsis continues. "Deserted streets are suddenly teeming with life. Figures dissolve into soil or are washed away in a deluge. The closer Juan gets to locating his father, the more the realm of the dead eclipses that of the living, while Pedro Paramo's infamy as a merciless tyrant only burgeons. Will Juan's spirit be absorbed into the phantasmagorical tapestry of this place where the voices of those who have passed forever echo in the wind?"

The themes and guestions at the heart of "Pedro Paramo" align well with the Latin-American literary tradition of magical realism, popularized by late "Love in the Time of Cholera" author Gabriel Garcia Marquez, who held the novel's author. Rulfo, in high esteem as one of his inspirations. By blending the worlds of the living and the dead and pairing that unique genre of spiritualism with reflections on memory, legacy and parentage, Rulfo — and filmmaker Prieto by extension — speak to many values at the core of Mexican culture.

This sentiment is also at the heart of a statement of release issued by Francisco Ramos, Vice President of Latin American Content for Netflix, in mid-August of this year.

"The recognition of Mexican cinema and literature within and beyond our borders is unquestionable," Ramos' statement begins. "Their quality and transcendence resonate because they define us just as we are. ... Almost 70 years after its publication, 'Pedro Paramo' remains one of the fundamental pillars of our literature, a seminal work of universal transcendence."

Manuel Garcia-Rulfo stars in "Pedro Paramo" Prieto's film is the third adaptation of Rulfo's iconic novel, but according to LatinoSlant.com, neither Carlos Velo's ("Torero," 1956) 1967 "Pedro Paramo" nor José Bolanos' ("Nana," 1979) 1977 version was a success due to foreign casting decisions and a national film industry on the decline.

Now, however, with growing access to foreign films, expanding technical features in filmmaking and more appropriate casting choices, Prieto's 2024 version seems poised to give Rulfo's source material the glowing reception it deserves.

"We made the decision to undertake the film adaptation of 'Pedro Paramo' with the utmost respect, rigor and commitment," Ramos wrote in his release ahead of the film's TIFF debut. "To this end, we were able to bring together an impressive group of artists and technicians, mostly Mexican, headed by the renowned and award-winning cinematographer Rodrigo Prieto." Don't miss the Wednesday, Nov. 6, premiere of Prieto's feature directorial debut, "Pedro Paramo," only on Netflix.

Barefoot Contessa shines in Season 6 of 'Be My Guest'

Ina Garten hosts "Be My Guest with Ina Garten"

By Caroline Collacutt TV Media

The Barefoot Contessa prepares for a night of hosting at her East Hampton home, as a brand-new episode from Season 6 of the Emmy-winning series "Be My Guest with Ina Garten" premieres Sunday, Nov. 3, on Food Network.

A talented chef, New York Times bestselling cookbook author and once the steadfast host of the renowned Food Network series "Barefoot Contessa," chef Ina Garten has far more to share than can be contained in her recently released memoir, "Be Ready When the Luck Happens." Lucky for her, every episode of "Be My Guest" allows Garten to share everything including tips and tricks for the kitchen, memories from her career, hopes for future projects and so much more.

Throughout the series, Garten takes the time to discuss career highlights and upcoming projects with each of her esteemed guests, all while sharing divine recipes that impress even the most seasoned celebrities ---- chef or not. So far, Season 6 has seen the appearance of chef Bobby Flay ("Beat Bobby Flay"); award-winning actor, comedian, writer and producer Julia Louis-Dreyfus ("Seinfeld"); comedian Stephen Colbert ("The Late Show with Stephen Colbert"), alongside his wife, producer Evie McGee-Colbert ("After Midnight"); and actor Wendell Pierce ("The Wire"). From country fresh omelettes and green goddess dips to cherry pistachio biscotti and sour cream coffee cake, Garten impresses her co-stars with her own delicious recipes, all easy enough for anyone to replicate at home.

In upcoming episodes, Garten is set to be joined by bestselling novelist Ann Patchett ("Tom Lake," 2023) and by world-renowned chef Eric Ripert ("Avec Eric"). While Patchett, according to the network's episode description, "shares childhood revelations and her winning formula for writing bestsellers over Ina's cherry clafouti," Ripert takes over the kitchen to make his own seared tuna with ginger soy salad.

"I love having friends come spend the day with me when we have time to talk and cook together — we have a very good time. Hope you can join us!" said Garten, sharing her ongoing excitement for the series.

"Be My Guest with Ina Garten" continues with more kitchen conversations Sunday, Nov. 3, on Food Network.

"Kindergarten: The Musical" – Season 1, New Episodes

Be ready to sing loud and proud along with Berti (voiced by newcomer Andrea Rosa Guzman) and her friends, as five new episodes of "Kindergarten: The Musical" premiere on Disney+ this Wednesday, Nov. 6. Now deep into her first year of Kindergarten, 5-year-old Berti has made lots of new friends, including Kenji (Kailen Jude, "Old," 2021), Radish (Zander Chin), Rose (Leah Newman, "Dead to Me"), Abigail (Tandi Fomukong, "Abbott Elementary") and Jamil (Randy Perrine, "Tab Time") — even Ms. Moreno (Gina Torres, "Suits"), her teacher, and the class guinea pig, Albert Applesauce. Together, the kids learn how to process feelings big and small, from excitement to homesickness, and how to use creativity and music as forms of self expression. With big, fun, Broadway-style dance numbers in every episode, "Kindergarten: The Musical" makes emotions feel accessible, and big transitions seem a little less daunting. Created by newcomer Michelle Lewis, "Kindergarten: The Musical" was produced by Charlton Pettus, the touring guitarist, producer and co-writer for "Tears for Fears."

"Strange World" (2022)

From writer-director Qui Nguyen ("Raya and the Last Dragon," 2021), alongside co-director Don Hall ("Big Hero 6," 2014), the 2022 animated film "Strange

Rose, Berti and Radish in "Kindergarten: The Musical"

World" is now available to stream on Disney+. Together, Jake Gyllenhaal ("Nightcrawler," 2014), Dennis Quaid ("Far from Heaven," 2002), Jaboukie Young-White ("Set It Up," 2018) and Gabrielle Union ("Bring It On," 2000) lend their voices to star as the legendary Clades family, a group of explorers who brave the wild terrain of their home planet in search of interesting new finds. After coming across a magical, miracle plant — Pando — that their society begins to use as a source of energy, the family must embark on a journey to an unfamiliar, subterranean world, working alongside surreal life forms to save the Pando plant. Highlighting the importance of our own world's natural resources, "Strange World" also features the voice acting talents of Lucy Liu ("Charlie's Angels," 2000), Karan Soni ("Safety Not Guaranteed," 2012), Alan Tudyk ("Resident Alien"), Adeline Anthony ("Teacup") and Abraham Benrubi ("Parker Lewis Can't Lose," 1990). The film's production team includes associate producer Laurie Au ("SparkShorts"), producer Roy Conli ("Big Hero 6," 2014) and executive producer Jennifer Lee ("Frozen," 2013).

"Witches: The Truth Behind the Trials"

From the U.S.A. to the UK, Europe and beyond, experience the dark and twisted tales of the infamous witch trials in the National Geographic series "Witches: The Truth Behind the Trials," available to stream now on Disney+. Throughout six fascinating episodes, expert analysis allows for accurate recreations from one of history's most brutal periods, sharing stories from America, Germany, Scotland, England, Sweden and Ireland. "Cinematic reconstructions, new analysis and expert interviews shed fresh light on the most famous witch trials of them all in Salem, Massachusetts," first introducing viewers to the fatal hunt that took place on the east coast from 1692 - 1693 (per National Geographic). Afterwards, "The Truth Behind the Trials" delves into the gender gap between males and females accused of witchcraft, and shines a light on those most involved with — and invested in — the hunts worldwide. from King James VI of Scotland, to two self-appointed witch-hunters who made it their mission to investigate and torture so-called witches during England's civil war. Through cinematic reconstruction, in-depth interviews, and detailed discussions of the occult. "Witches: The Truth Behind the Trials" hopes to uncover the light behind the darkness, offering possible explanations for the global reckoning that took place throughout the 17th Century.

Be My Guest With Ina Garten

(FOOD) Noon

Since she's the hostess with the mostest, everyone wants to be invited to "Barefoot Contessa" star Ina Garten's barn for terrific conversation and fabulous food. Eric Ripert stops by to share life-changing stories and cook up a meal.

Ridley

13 24 8 p.m.

Time is at an absolute premium for DI Ridley (Adrian Dunbar) and his team when they find a body in Colden Vale. In order to stop the threat of more fatalities, they race to find missing wife and mother Tara Dunning (Emily Stott) in this season finale.

Holiday Wars

(FOOD) 9 p.m.

327 554

Season 6 kicks off with a delicious taste of holiday cheer, as three teams are challenged to create a scene depicting what it would look like if Santa was starring in his very own buddy adventure movie. Judges Shimin Li and Kardea Brown preside.

"A Man Called Otto" (2022)

Find new meaning in life with the comedy drama film "A Man Called Otto" when it becomes available to stream on Hulu Wednesday, Nov. 6. Six months ago, Otto Anderson (Tom Hanks, "Forrest Gump," 1994) lost his wife. Having completely given up on life and unable to see any meaning to it, Otto is ready to end it all. But, when a young and lively family moves in next door, Otto meets his match in the quick-witted Marisol (Mariana Trevino, "Club de Cuervos"), who challenges him to see life differently. Based on the bestselling novel of the same name by Fredrik Backman, "A Man Called Otto" is directed by Marc Forster ("The Kite Runner," 2007), with a screenplay by David Magee ("Life of Pi," 2012). Rachel Keller ("Legion"), Manuel Garcia-Rulfo ("The Lincoln Lawver"), Mike Birbiglia ("Billions"). Cameron Britton ("The Umbrella Academy"), Mack Bayda ("Making a Scene," 2023), Juanita Jennings ("The Deliverance," 2024), Peter Lawson Jones ("White Boy Rick," 2018) and Kelly Lamor Wilson ("Unnecessary Meanness," 2013) also star. Hanks, Gary Goetzman ("My Big Fat Greek Wedding," 2002), Fredrik Wikstrom ("A Man Called Ove," 2015) and Rita Wilson ("Mamma Mia!," 2008) are producers.

"NCIS" - Seasons 1-11 Get back on the case with a cozy fall binge when Seasons 1-11 of "NCIS" stream on Hulu beginning Friday, Nov. 8. A franchiselaunching smash-hit series that's been on air since 2003, "NCIS" is itself a spinoff of the hit CBS series "JAG." The series follows the special agents of the Major Case Response Team working for the Naval Criminal Investigative Service (NCIS) in Washington, D.C. Headed up by Supervisory Special Agent Leroy Jethro Gibbs (Mark Harmon, "Freaky Friday, "2003), the team gets to the bottom of some tricky cases involving Navy and Marine Corps personnel. The team also includes (at different points throughout the seasons) special agents Anthony DiNozzo (Michael Weatherly, "Dark Angel"), Ziva David (Cote de Pablo, 'Seneca," 2019), Timothy McGee (Sean Murray, "Harts of the West"), Ellie Bishop ("IAm Number Four," 2011) and Caitlin Todd (Sasha Alexander, "Rizzoli & Isles"); forensic specialist Abby Sciuto (Pauley Perrette, "Almost Famous," 2000); and medical examiners Dr. Donald "Ducky" Mallard (David McCallum, "The Man from U.N.C.L.E.") and Jimmy Palmer (Brian Dietzen, "Congratulations," 2012). "NCIS" comes from creators Donald P. Bellisario "Quantum Leap") and Don McGill ("CSI: Crime Scene Investigation").

"Poolman" (2023)

Get to scrubbing! The absurdist mystery

Mariana Trevino and Tom Hanks star in "A Man Called Otto"

comedy film "Poolman" makes its Hulu debut Friday, Nov. 8. Set in the bustling, sun-soaked city of Los Angeles, "Poolman" follows city native Darren Barrenman (Chris Pine, "Star Trek," 2009), who fills his days by maintaining the pool at the Tahitian Tiki apartment block and looking for ways to make his town a better place to live for all. But, Darren's life takes an eventful turn when a femme fatale named June Del Rey (DeWanda Wise, "She's Gotta Have It") recruits him to help uncover a dark truth involving a corrupt politician, a greedy land developer and a shady business deal. At the end of it all, Darren uncovers a hidden truth about not only the City of Angels, but also about himself. Marking Pine's directorial debut, "Poolman" is written by Pine and Ian Gotler ("Doula," 2022). Produced by Gotler, Pine, Stacey Sher ("Erin Brockovich," 2000) and Patty Jenkins ("Wonder Woman 1984," 2020), the film also stars Annette Bening ("Apples Never Fall"), Stephen Tobolowsky ("One Day at a Time"), Clancy Brown ("Billions"), John Ortiz ("American Gangster," 2007), Ray Wise ("Fresh Off the Boat"), Jennifer Jason Leigh ("Fargo") and Danny DeVito ("It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia").

"Citadel: Honey Bunny" - Season 1 Set in the Citadel universe, the new spinoff "Citadel: Honey Bunny" premieres Thursday, Nov. 7, on Prime Video, set against the backdrop of India in the '90s. While Bunny (Varun Dhawan, "October," 2018) is a stuntman and Honey (Samantha Ruth Prabhu, "The Family Man") is a struggling actress, they find themselves caught up in a "high-stakes world of action, espionage and betrayal" when they team up for a side gig (per Prime Video). When Honey and Bunny's dangerous and unlikely past catches up with them years later, the estranged couple must team up once more to protect their family. Created by Anthony and Joe Russo ("Everything Everywhere All at Once," 2022), "Honey Bunny" is directed by "The Family Man's" Krishna D.K. and Raj Nidimoru, with a screenplay by D.K., Nidimoru and Sita Menon ("Farzi"). Kay Kay Menon ("Haider," 2014), Emma Canning ("Masters of the Air"), Simran ("Rocketry: The Nambi Effect," 2022), Sagib Saleem ("Crackdown"), Sikandar Kher ("Aarya"), Soham Majumdar ("Kabir Singh," 2019), Shivankit Singh Parihar ("Dalchini") and new talent Kashvi Majmundar are also in the cast.

Samantha Ruth Prabhu and Varun Dhawan star in "Citadel: Honey Bunny"

"Cada Minuto Cuenta" – Season 1 On September morning in 1985, tragedy struck Mexico City, as an 8.1 magnitude earthquake brought buildings to the ground and families to their knees. See how heroes were forged in the debris of a fallen city in the brand-new series "Cada Minuto Cuenta," premiering Friday, Nov. 8, on Prime Video. According to the streamer, the fictionalized series "intimately portrays the people who lived through the tragedy firsthand, but above all, it tells the story of how heroes and heroines were forged, keeping the catastrophe at bay and making every minute count in their rescue efforts." Following a doctor with a dark past, a journalist seeking fame, and a family in distress, this breathtaking survival story explores how every minute offers the opportunity to change the course of one's life. With episodes directed by Jorge Michel Grau ("We Are What We Are," 2010), Moises Ortiz Urguidi ("High Heat") and Fernando Urdapilleta ("Estrellas solitarias," 2015), "Cada Minuto Cuenta" stars Oswaldo Rada ("Telephone," 2023), Enrique Arreola ("Duck Season," 2004), Jorge León ("Before I Forget"), Rocio Guzman ("Down the Rabbit Hole," 2024), Alphonso Escobedo ("Analema," 2023), Lesslie Apodaca ("Diseñando tu amor"), Jorge Gidi ("Bardo: False Chronicle of a Handful of Truths," 2022) and Conchi León ("Hurricane Season," 2023).

"13 Going on 30" (2004) From director Gary Winick ("Bride Wars," 2009), the beloved coming-of-age comedy "13 Going on 30" is now available to stream on Prime Video. On her 13th birthday, the oh-so unpopular Jenna Rink (here, played by Christa B. Allen, "Revenge") makes a wish while stuck in a closet at her own party: to be thirty, flirty and thriving. The next morning, Jenna (now played by Jennifer Garner, "Alias") wakes up exactly where she hoped to be. She's 30-years old, living in the big city, dating a cute guy and working for a high profile fashion magazine alongside her best friend. Very quickly, however, Jenna learns that growing up isn't always as easy — or fun — as it seems, and that most adults could use a reminder of who they used to be. Crafted by writers Josh Goldsmith ("What Women Want," 2000) and Cathy Yuspa ("The King of Queens"), this nostalgia-filled flick features a cast including Mark Ruffalo ("Spotlight," 2015), Judy Greer ("Archer"), Andy Serkis ("The Batman," 2022), Kathy Baker ("Picket Fences"), Phil Reeves ("Sideways," 2004), Sam Ball ("Pumpkin," 2002), Marcia DeBonis ("Heels"), Sean Marquette ("The Goldbergs"), Kiersten Warren ("Bicentennial Man," 1999) and Joe Grifasi ("Presumed Innocent," 1990).

"Meet Me Next Christmas" (2024) Sing in the season with Netflix's first Christmas romance film of the year when "Meet Me Next Christmas" premieres Wednesday, Nov. 6. Seasonal surprises abound as Layla (Christina Milian, "Love Don't Cost a Thing," 2003) sets out on a race through New York City to gets tickets to the sold out Pentatonix Christmas Eve Concert, the hottest show in town. With an unexpected ally, professional concierge Teddy (Devale Ellis, "Sistas"), by her side, Layla is determined to do whatever it takes to make it to the show and earn the affection of James (Kofi Siriboe, "Queen Sugar"), the man of her dreams. Featuring Pentatonix members Mitch Grassi, Scott Hoying, Kirstin Maldonado, Kevin Olusola and Matt Sallee, "Meet Me Next Christmas" also stars Kalen Allen ("With Love"), Nikki Duval ("Workin' Moms") and Wesley French ("Cashing In"). With a screenplay written by Molly Haldeman and Camilla Rubis (both of "The Expanding Universe of Ashley Garcia"), the film is directed by Rusty Cundieff ("Chappelle's Show").

"Arcane" - Season 2, Act 1

League of Legends fans can dive back into the world of the games when "Arcane" returns Saturday, Nov. 9, for its second and final season. The second and third installments are set to air Nov. 16 and Nov. 23, respectively. Set in the utopia of Piltover and the oppressed underground of Zaun, the series explores the origin stories of several of the game's characters, with a focus on sisters Jinx (Ella Purnell, "Fallout") also known as Powder — and Vi (Hailee

Christina Milian and Kofie Sirboe star in "Meet Me Next Christmas"

Steinfeld, "Dickinson"). This season, set in the aftermath of the explosive events from Season 1, finds Jinx launching an attack on the Piltover council. With the relationship between Jinx and Vi still anything but amicable, Jinx will have to grapple with the impact of her actions as the conflict between Piltover and Zaun comes to a head. From Riot Games, the series comes from creators Christian Linke and Alex Yee in their first major producing roles. Kevin Alejandro ("Arrow"), Katie Leung ("Harry Potter and the Order of the Phoenix," 2007), Jason Spisak ("Young Justice"), Toks Olagundoye ("Castle"), J.B. Blanc ("Breaking Bad"), Reed Shannon ("Blaze and the Monster Machines"), Brett Tucker ("Mistresses"), Mick Wingert ("Kung Fu Panda: The Paws of Destiny") and Harry Lloyd ("The Theory of Everything," 2014) also voice star. "Outer Banks" - Season 4, Part 2 Wrapping up its latest season with four drama-packed new episodes, "Outer Banks" returns Thursday, Nov. 7, to Netflix for Season 4, Part 2. Set against the picturesque backdrop of the Outer Banks of North Carolina, this teen mystery drama follows the lives of the locals who live in a popular coastal tourist town year-round. When the group happens upon a legendary treasure map that comes with an unbelievable prize and a dark secret early on in the series, they quickly find their lives changed forever. This season, the Poques are attempting to live a normal life in their new safe haven, which they've dubbed Poquelandia 2.0. But it isn't long before the group — including John B. (Chase Stokes, "Dr. Bird's Advice for Sad Poets," 2021), Sarah (Madelyn Cline, "Glass Onion," 2022), Kiara (Madison Bailey, "Black Lightning"), Pope (J.D., "Do Revenge," 2022), JJ (Rudy Pankow, "Uncharted," 2022) and Cleo (Carlacia Grant, "Greenleaf") — are back out on another adventure, with a new treasure on the horizon. Created by Shannon Burke ("Abandon," 2002), and twin brothers Jonas and Josh Pate (both of "Surface" and "Good vs Evil"), the new season is directed by Jonas Pate. Austin North ("I Didn't Do It"), Carolina Arapoglou ("Stranger Things"), Julia Antonelli ("WITS Academy"), Cullen Moss ("Your Honor"), Deion Smith ("Will Trent"), Charles Halford ("True Detective"), Charles Esten ("Nashville"), Drew Starkey ("Love, Simon," 2018) and David Jensen ("Queen Sugar") also star.

Racquel Chevremont stars in "The Real Housewives of New York City"

Election Night 2024: Your Voice/Your Vote

④ 7 p.m.

ABC News anchor David Muir and the ABC News team get the latest information from various election locations to provide results in the 2024 presidential election. As results continue to stream in, experts will piece together the Electoral College.

Cast Away

(AMC) 8 p.m.

After a devastating plane crash, a man (Tom Hanks) is forced to survive on a remote island for four years, living in complete isolation. More Hanks follows, as his 2009 feature, "Captain Phillips," airs immediately afterwards, also starring Barkhad Abdi.

The Real Housewives of New York City

(BRAVO) 9 p.m.

If you can make it here, you can make it anywhere. But Erin, Brynn, Jenna and the rest of the Housewives prefer to remain right here. Well, the Hamptons are just fine as well. And maybe Westchester, if you want to see the wilderness. But that's it!

American Sports Story: Aaron Hernandez

FX 10 p.m.

During this new episode, Terri (Tammy Blanchard), Shayanna (Jaylen Barron) and Tanya (Lindsay Mendez) process Aaron's (Josh Andrés Rivera) conviction. As they come to terms with their new reality, they are forced to make a difficult decision.

Manu Bennett hosts "The Summit"

Treasure

(SHO) 5 p.m.

Ruth (Lena Dunham), an American journalist, brings her father (Stephen Fry) to Poland to visit his childhood homeland and help understand her family's past. But as a Holocaust survivor, he prefers to forget, creating unintentionally funny moments.

NBA Basketball

(ESPN) 7:45 p.m.

It's a battle of giants as two of the NBA's greatest teams meet up. Steph Curry and the Golden State Warriors head east to take on Jayson Tatum and the Boston Celtics, live from TD Garden in Boston. Last year, the Warriors finished 10th in the West.

Nature

13 24 8 p.m.

It might be known for its zoo, coastline and stunning weather, but San Diego is also wild. Nowhere in the United States has as many species as this city. From blistering deserts to snow-capped mountains and tidal estuaries, biodiversity calls it home.

Breath of Fire

(HBO) 9 p.m.

Continuing tonight with a brand-new episode, this documentary miniseries offers an exploration of modern spirituality by discussing the improbable rise and epic downfall of one of the 21st century's most successful wellness empires: Kundalini Yoga.

The Summit

(2) (6) (7) 9:30 p.m. Some aren't handling the pressure and C t challenges like everyone would like as the remaining contestants continue their trek across the treacherous New Zealand Alps in order to reach their destination in 14 days and collect their share of $1 million.

Joshua Jackson in "Doctor Odyssey"

After the First 48

(A&E) 8 p.m.

Season 10 premieres tonight, beginning with a gruesome tale. When a violent melee leaves two men dead, Mobile, Ala., detectives work to track down multiple suspects, using all available evidence to piece together what really happened that fateful night.

Doctor Odyssey

④ 9 p.m.

Making waves might be par for the course on the open ocean, but aboard The Odyssey, it's sometimes best to keep your head down. Dr. Max Bankman (Joshua Jackson) is still getting his sea legs, but Capt. Massey (Don Johnson) is not offering Dramamine.

Christmas Cookie Challenge

(FOOD) 9 p.m.

It's time for a hoedown showdown. The eighth year of this annual Christmas-loving competition begins tonight, seeing four "countrified" cookie makers creating treats that share how wintery farm animals hoedown for the holidays in the North Pole.

Sophie Turner in "Joan" Gold Rush

DISC 8 p.m.

With gold at record prices, everyone should all get a pickaxe and take their chance. But in this Season 15 premiere, miners Rick Ness, Parker Schnabel and Tony Beets are dealing with overwhelming greed as everyone is looking to strike it rich.

Lopez vs Lopez

(9) (11) (12) 8:30 p.m. After George experiences a minor fall, the family begins to treat him like he's a fragile old man ... even though he's still got some pep in his step. Chance is caught using a curse word, leaving Rosie to question Mayan's modern parenting techniques.

Fire Country

2 6 7 9 p.m.

Smokey Bear has nothing on Bode Donovan (Max Thieriot) as he continues to atone for his past through the firefighter program in Northern California. He and other inmates put their lives on the line to extinguish dangerous fires threatening the area.

Salute to Service 2024: A Veterans Day Celebration

13 24 9 p.m.

Mickey Guyton hosts this tribute to American service members, which features performances by country artist Craig Morgan, singer-songwriter Aubrey Logan, Christian McBride, the U.S. Army Field Band and Soldiers' Chorus and other active-duty soldiers.

Joan

22) 9 p.m.

From a penniless mother struggling to make ends meet to a skilled thief capable of becoming anyone at any time thanks to her talent for disguise, Joan (Sophie Turner) must pull off the heist of a lifetime in this season finale. However, doubts remain.

Ree Drummond hosts "The Pioneer Woman"

The Pioneer Woman

(FOOD) 10 a.m.

If there is one place to be, it's cook and author Ree Drummond's house. With a nod to the changing seasons, she cooks pecan crusted pork chops with a whiskey cream sauce, glazed apple cider doughnuts, root veggies with Italian sausage and more.

Divergent

(SHO) 10:05 a.m.

Tris (Shailene Woodley) lives in a world where each person must choose a community to live in based on their values. But when she chooses Dauntless — which prizes bravery — she discovers that she made the wrong choice. The two sequels immediately follow.

Santa Tell Me

(HALL) 8 p.m.

When Olivia (Erin Krakow) finds a letter from Santa that promises she'll meet her true love, a man named Nick, by Christmas Eve, she begins a harrowing search. Three Nicks later, Olivia finds herself utterly confused and still hoping for love.

The Fisher King

(TCM) 8 p.m.

Starring Jeff Bridges and Robin Williams, this 1991 drama follows an unhinged, Manhattan-based talk-radio host (Bridges) as he meets a mad knight of the streets (Williams), who claims he's stalking the streets in search of his own Holy Grail.

Q: I loved Lt. Dixon on "Law & Order," especially the scenes where she used sign language. Did she just learn ASL for the role or does she have a background in it?

A: Camryn Manheim ("The Practice") has an extensive and impressive background in sign language, even if she's pretty modest about how she got it.

"I just needed to get to university so my parents wouldn't cut me out of the will," is how she framed it in a 2015 interview with The Associated Press.

When she was young and applying to university — at her parents' demand she needed to pass two languages but had already failed French and Spanish. She said she took two semesters of American Sign Language (ASL) just to qualify for the University of California at Santa Cruz.

Years later, in an event that sounds like one of her "Law & Order" episodes, she witnessed a pedestrian being hit by a car and, when she rushed to help, she discovered the victim was deaf. With her limited ASL, she managed to interpret for the first responders. "I felt terrible that I didn't know more," she said in the same AP interview.

So she began taking classes again and eventually became so fluent that she was qualified as an ASL interpreter. That's how, as Lt. Dixon in NBC's "Law & Order" revival, she can speak with her character's deaf son.

Unfortunately, [spoiler alert for the new season of "Law & Order"] we won't be seeing any more of those heartwarming scenes. Her character was written off the show at the beginning of this season — the show's 24th.

Q: What's Hugh Laurie's next project? I was sad to see "Avenue 5" go so soon.

A: Hugh Laurie ("House") is working on two different projects at the moment, but there are question marks hanging over both.

It was announced in February 2023 that he would appear in the third season of Apple TV+'s spy drama "Tehran," but nothing's been heard of that since, even though the second season was released all the way back in the summer of 2022. Filming was almost certainly delayed by the Hollywood strikes (though producers reportedly signed an "interim agreement" with the actors union to film while the strike was going on), but that doesn't totally explain the absence of news since.

Meanwhile, it was announced that an even older series, BBC and AMC's "The Night Manager," is finally getting a second season. Laurie was the villain in the first season in 2016, who [eight-year-old spoiler alert] was apprehended at the end.

When the BBC announced the list of returning actors, he wasn't included. But it did say he'd be involved as an executive producer.
