DOH District 4 boss: Relationship must change

BY BEN CONLEY Bconley@dominionpost.com

The relationship between local elected officials and the West Virginia Division of Highways has followed a recognizable pattern over the last decade-plus. It proceeds as such:

Local frustrations mount over time – be they over specific issues, a general lack of maintenance, or both.

Complaints become more pointed, public and frequent. The two sides come together to air things out, and depart proclaiming a renewed commitment to communication and collaboration. Rinse and repeat.

Most of the failure is the way we've managed and the way we've operated, quite honestly, in drawing these lines. My whole goal is to change the perception of what everybody thinks about the department of highways; change the perception of what we're willing to do," Gaskins said. "I not violate state law. I will not violate anything for anybody, but we can make this work together. If we miss this opportunity, there will be nobody else

Gaskins said he had "blanket permits" in place with the cities of Bridgeport and Clarksburg while at his previous post.

"All that takes is a permit. You fill out a permit, and you can do whatever you want on our roads. It's that simple," he said, noting some activities will not violate my policy. I will may require a permit and a written agreement.

Part of mending the relationship, Gaskins continued, is defining expectations.

For example, local leadership is often frustrated by a lack of mowing and sweeping at the major entrances to the greater Morgantown area - particularly during high-visibility occasions like WVU graduation and sporting events.

"A lot of times what I see in municipalities, your standards are different than what the department of highways is ... I don't mow for aesthetics. I mow for the fundamentals of safety," he said. "We're not mowing SEE CHANGE. A-2

Study: Time spent near real Christmas trees can ease stress, anxiety

BY DAVID BEARD

DBeard@DominionPost.com

This holiday season of peace and joy can actually be quite the opposite for many people. A 2021 study by the American Psychiatric Association said 41% of people included in the research reported experiencing holiday season stress and anxiety.

One solution might be to talk a walk through a Christmas tree lot, according to four WVU Davis College Division of Forestry & Natural Resources professors.

"You don't even have to buy one," said Chad Pier-skalla, who led the group's study. "You can just go to your local retailer and enjoy the smell for 15-20 minutes, and that alone can have a lot of positive benefits."

Insurgents reach gates of Syria's capita

BEIRUT — A Syrian opposition war monitor and a pro-government media outlet say government forces have withdrawn from much of the central city of Homs. The pro-government Sham FM reported that government forces took positions outside Syria's third-largest city, without elaborating. Rami Abdurrahman who heads the Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights, said Syrian troops and members of different security agencies have withdrawn from the city, adding that rebels have entered parts of it. CEO's shooting opens a door for many to vent

The fatal shooting of UnitedHealthcare's CEO has opened the door for many people to vent their frustrations and anger over the insurance industry. The feelings of exasperation, anger, resentment, and helplessness toward insurers aren't new. But the shooting and the headlines around it have unleashed a new wave of patients sharing such sentiments and personal stories of interactions with insurance companies. Conversations at dinner tables, office water coolers, social gatherings and on social media have pivoted to the topic.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands — An explosion and fire has rocked a neighborhood in the Dutch city of The Hague, killing three people and injuring other people and destroying several apartments. The cause of the disaster is unclear. Emergency authorities said four people were rescued from the rubble and taken to the hospital. The mayor said rescuers were no longer looking for survivors but for eventual bodies, but could not specify how many people might still be unaccounted for. Residents of the northeastern neighborhood of Mariahoeve in The Hague heard a huge bang and screams before dawn.

SEOUL, South Korea South Korea's embattled President Yoon Suk Yeol has avoided an opposition-led attempt to impeach him over his shortlived imposition of martial law. Most of Yoon's ruling party lawmakers boycotted a parliamentary vote Saturday to deny a twothirds majority needed to suspend his presidential powers. The scrapping of the motion is expected to intensify protests calling for Yoon's ouster and deepen political chaos in South Korea. A survey suggests a majority of South Koreans support the president's impeachment. Yoon's martial law declaration drew criticism from his own ruling conservative People Power Party. trees and artificial trees and provided a simulated shopping experience in different store environments – walking through the various types of displays, smelling and feeling the trees, Pierskalla said.

The study involved 1,208 people across the country who answered 45 questions and viewed the two videos. The subjects, using established study methods, evaluated the videos moment to moment, indicating how the experience would help them recover from mental fatigue.

The study looked at the role of fascination: one of five major qualities of an environment that contributes to recovery from mental fatigue, and is considered the most important of the five, Pierskalla said.

Both experiences produced fascination, he said. But touring the artificial tree display stimulated what he called "hard" fascination along the lines of what you might experience playing a video game or watching a sports event. It's noisy and loud and burdens the mind more than it helps it recover. Hard fascination can lead to mental fatigue, which experience. in turn can lead to dis-

The real trees stimulated "soft" fascination similar to wind blowing through leaves, ripples of water, clouds and sunsets, he said. It doesn't burden the mind with internal noise and clutter.

They learned that the real tree experience contributed more than twice as much to recovery. "That was an unexpected and interesting finding."

Touring the real trees offered a type of "forest bathing" experience – an immersion in nature.

"It's hard to get out this time of year, maybe more-so than in the summer," he said. "It's nice to be able to go to a shopping environment, a retail lot, a big box store, even a Christmas tree farm, and have this accessible nature right there, as a way to forest bathe while shopping."

You don't need to spend a lot of time, he said. Stroll through the tree lot for 15-20 minutes. Walk slowly and appreciate the experience. You don't have to drive far to find a farm. A retail tree lot offers an easily accessible urban forest.

"The smell is one of the peak restorative moments that we identified in our study," he said. Artificial trees don't offer the same multi-sensory

So, what can be done to make this happen?

"If it's all up to the department of highways, nothing. We can keep talking about it until the cows come home," Gaskins said. "If we join together and join forces, it's very feasible. It's something we can accomplish, but we've got to join our forces and work together."

To that end, Gaskins introduced Maintenance Engineer Joe Pernell, who will serve as a direct liaison between District 4 and Monongalia County.

"I know you've heard this 1,000 times, but as long as I'm in office in District 4, and as long as I have my team, this offer is going to be there. We've got to get this line of communication taken care of. We've got to get working together," Gaskins said. "We need to get reasonable expectations in place and move on like it's 2025 and not 1940."

WVU's annual chemistry show for children is Saturday at Clark Hall

Michael Faraday's timeless intellectual spirit and sense of discovery will be in the very molecules come Saturday morning at WVU's Clark Hall.

It will start audibly, when you hear all those "oohs and aahs" emanating from Room 101 – not to mention the rippled bouts of laughing, and extended rounds of applause, that will be sure to follow.

and whole constructs of fanciful snowmen have gone up in flames for the cause (courtesy of cellulose soaked in nitric acid).

Sure, just about all of the experiments are of the "Don't try this at home," variety.

The core idea, though, organizers say, is to get impressionable young minds to take the spirit of science - and the wonder of just what all those elements on the Earth and across can do, in the midst of it all.

Faraday had just that in mind when he launched

'Y2K' leans into nostalgia, silliness for decent fun

WHEN THE CHANGE OF THE MIL LENNIUM WAS UPON US, THERE WAS PLENTY OF CONCERN ABOUT WHAT WAS GOING TO HAPPEN. I don't remember anyone being worried about things turning out quite the way they did in Kyle Mooney's new horror comedy "Y2K," but I remember tuning in to watch midnight in Australia just to make sure everything went OK.

Eli (Jaeden Martell) and Danny (Julian Dennison) are each other's only friends. On New Year's Eve of 1999, they have plans to stay home and watch a movie. But when they run into Eli's crush and super-hacker Laura (Rachel Zegler), they decide to go to the NYE party Soccer Chris (The Kid Laroi) is hosting.

As midnight strikes, to escape to a place withmachines track them they go. Eventually, they to save humanity, they will have to go and confront the machines on their turf. "Y2K" is a silly and funny movie that doesn't try to take itself too seriously. The jokes, especially in the early part of the film, landed well with the intended audience, and there were plenty of laugh-out-loud moments. But for all of its goofiness, there were moments as well. with a title like "Y2K," I wouldn't expect anything else. For the most part, it is used effectively. Sometimes, if it's piled on just thick enough, this kind of humor works well. And this film piles it on very thick. performances The are solid. Dennison and Martell are both talented young actors, and they played off of each other brilliantly. Zegler is another rising star, and even though I wasn't sold on the romance between her and Martell, she still lights up the screen.

The biggest issue this movie faces is that there isn't quite enough story to cover even the short 93-minute run time. Obviously, a comedy doesn't have to have a lot of story elements going on, but "Y2K" has a few moments when it feels the lights flicker, and all like Mooney, along with of a sudden all of the co-writer Evan Winter, electronics start to turn is stretching out some on them. He said as much during his first lecture, all of 197 years ago.

"Nothing is too wonderful to be true, if it be consistent with the laws of nature," Faraday told his audience. It would be a theme to follow.

Terry Gullion, WVU chemistry professor and show's chief organizer, agrees – just in a slightly more earthbound way.

However, call numbers will still be announced each day for those wishing to continue playing BINGO for the Closest to Coverall BINGO. Winners of the $250 prize are still eligible to play and win the $500 Closest to Coverall BINGO Prize. Winners of the $250 prize will receive their BINGO card back after verification of validity and will still be eligible to participate in other BINGO wins as well. NOTE: Due to newspaper deadlines, editing of a newspaper ad is limited, and a way of winning may become invalid before a large black "Winner Found" stamp is placed over it in the ad. Please call The Dominion Post at (304)-291-9400 before appearing to present a BINGO card. Once a contestant has won, the way in which they won becomes invalid. NO EXCEPTIONS. Winning BINGOs are determined by a representative of The Dominion Post and is completely at his or her discretion.

- 9. Each eligible contestant must present (in person) their official game card with valid "BINGO" using daily numbers to complete a horizontal, vertical, or diagonal BINGO. They must physically present their winning official game card to a representative of The Dominion Post during the hours of 8:30am – 4:30pm Monday – Friday, at their offices in Morgantown. The contestant must call (304) 291-9400 prior to presenting at The Dominion Post. However, winner is determined by physical presentation of official BINGO card and a call prior to this does not guarantee a win.
- 10. The first eligible contestant to present their card will be the winner of that way of winning; in the event that more than one person with the same way of winning is present at the same time, a winner will be drawn at random from these people. Winner must present an official game card with a valid BINGO by numbers already published in The Dominion Post. Contestants must also have a valid, government-issued ID present.
- 11. CLOSEST TO COVERALL BINGO: Starting February 21st, all official game cards may be deposited in a contest drop-box at The Dominion Post for entry in the Closest to Coverall BINGO. Contestants must deposit their official game cards with complete contact information, including name, address, phone number, and email clearly written on the official game card, before the deadline. Deadline for submission of Closest to Coverall BINGO entries will be Friday, February 28th at noon.
- 13. After the deadline, ONE prize winner will be selected from all the contest drop-box. The Closest to Coverall BINGO Prize Winner will be the contestant whose BINGO card is closest to a valid Coverall BINGO. The BINGO card with the most call numbers covered will be the winning card. All call numbers will be verified. The winner will receive a $500 check. In the event that more than one contestant has equally covered BINGO cards, the winner will be chosen at random from them.
- 14. All entries become property of Odgen Newspapers. By completing and submitting an official entry, you are consenting to participation in this contest.

SCIENCE Why do our ears pop on airplanes?

Thanksgiving Over break, I traveled to India for my cousin's wedding. To get to where the wedding was happening, I was on three back-to-back flights: a 12-hour one, a 3-hour one, and a 1.5-hour one. Each process was the same: a takeoff, a good bit of time where we were all in the air, and the landing. It was specifically during landing when my ears would be in excruciating pain. I would try chewing gum but it sometimes didn't help. When I pressed my finger against my ear flap, I heard a hissing sound that would go off for a few seconds before my ears felt fine again.

Our ears have three parts: the outer ear, the middle ear, and the inner ear. The outer ear is the part we see from the outside—it funnels sound waves toward the eardrum, which is a thin membrane. The eardrum is part of the middle ear. It vibrates three tiny bones seated right behind it. Nestled diagonally down from the bones, is the eustachian tube, which is connected to the throat. These tubes are generally sealed shut to keep the middle ear safe from anything that might be in the back of the nose and throat. When we swallow or yawn, these tubes briefly open to help drain out any fluid and bring fresh air into the middle ear. The inner ear is a spiral-shaped cavity filled with fluid that converts the bone vibrations into sound signals that are sent to the brain.

Normally, the air pressure is the same in both the outer ear and the middle ear. The air surrounding us has weight because it's made of matter. Weight is the force of gravity pulling it towards the center of the Earth. The weight of the air as it pushes down on everything is air pressure. The eustachian tube is responsible for equalizing pressure within our ears.

Sometimes flying, swimming deep in the pool, or scuba diving can cause problems with equalizing pressure. The air-filled space in our middle ear connects and ventilates in through the nasal cavity, and can sometimes get obstructed and have issues with air flow.

Obstruction of eustachian tubes can be caused by viral infections and allergies, more commonly occurring in kids and young adults. When pressure is not equalized in their ears, people may get the urge to pop, blow, same. The air pressure or pinch their nose. This imbalance is what causes forces air through the eustachian tube and into the middle ear space. Doing this though can cause the eardrum to be sucked back which can cause a small amount of low frequency hearing loss. The eardrum is like an instrument that can't vibrate as much if it's sucked back, which can then change how the sound feels as it comes through the middle of ear space.

Problems with the eustachian tube can be diminished by taking decongestants like Sudafed and Afrin. Spraying Afrin into the nose about an hour before taking off and 15-20 minutes before the descent of the airplane can help open up the eustachian tubes and equalize the pressure. For people with allergies, spreading steroid nasal spray keeps noses a little bit more ventilated long term. It is important to note that these sprays should be used appropriately as overuse can lead to worsened eustachian tube dysfunction over time.

When we are flying in an airplane, the atmosphere around us has fewer molecules because we're higher up-the higher up we go, the less dense the air is. This causes the air pressure around us and within our outer ear to be lower. But the air pressure in the middle ear remains the the pain. It also causes the eardrum to bulge out. The bulging not only limits the eardrum's ability to transmit sounds, but also causes uncomfortable stuffy feelings. Whenever this happens, we may try to chew gum, swallow really hard, or yawn, which all help with opening up our eustachian tubes. This allows the air in the middle ear to have the same pressure as the airplane cabin. The rush of air into or out of our middle ear, and our eardrum adjusting a little bit, is the

"pop" we hear. Doctors recommend being careful about holding our nose and blowing. If we blow too much through eustachian tubes, we can tear our eardrums or send substances from the back of the throat to the middle ear. The likelihood of tearing our eardrums is very low but it is advised to solely do a gentle blow or swallow to pop your ears on an airplane. Doing so can help decrease discomfort when traveling.

HOLIDAY OHMS staging toy drive, wrestling fundraiser

Associated Press

Dec. 5—Once again, Oak Hill Middle School will benefit the local community by staging a professional wrestling event in mid-December.

The wrestling card will be the culmination of the ongoing, second annual OHMS Student Support Team Christmas Toy Drive, which will support local families during the holidavs.

According to OHMS Principal Chad Quesenberry, people are asked to bring an unopened toy for any age or clothing with tags to the middle school during regular school hours or bring it to the wrestling event on Friday, Dec. 13 at 7:30 p.m. for a free general admission bleacher ticket. The Appalachian Championship Wrestling Winner Takes All event will benefit the OHMS Student Support Christmas Team Tov Drive.

Quesenberry said last year's inaugural toy drive was a success.

"Last year, we really didn't know what to expect," said Quesenberry. Instead of perhaps collecting a modest amount of toys for as many as "helped over 100 families." That included toys for children in the community and at two local Facebook schools, as well as providing Christmas dinners for several families.

"It was overwhelmingly successful," he said. "This is an event I feel verv strongly about."

Ringside seats on Dec. 13 are $15. Bleacher seats will cost $10, and children 10-and-under will be admitted for $5.

As a bonus during the live wrestling card, members of the community will get the chance to see Quesenberry team with Heath Slater and a mystery partner in the ACW six-man tag team championship.

Quesenberry said the wrestling show will provide him another chance to lock horns in the ring with nemesis Shane Douglas. "The thorn in my side the last 5-6 years has been Shane Douglas," he said. "I hope to mix it up with him. Shane likes to run his mouth about West Virginia and Oak Hill. We'll be defending the honor of our community and our state.'

"We're excited about it," he added. "It's a good time.'

There will be a meetand-greet with the wrestlers at 6:30 p.m. on Dec. they could help, the drive 13, and bell time is 7:30 p.m.

RECIPE Make-ahead cranberry coffee cake a Christmas morning winner

BY MEREDITH DEEDS

Star Tribune (Minneapolis) (TNS) At our house, and I know we're not alone, Christmas morning goes by in a flash with shredded wrapping paper and bows flying everywhere. And once the gift-giving excitement is over, everyone is hungry and ready for a festive breakfast.

Timing is everything, though. If you start making breakfast at this point, the hangries (where hungry meets angry) will start to set in and no one wants Grandpa to start picking at the Christmas dinner ham before it even gets in the oven. To avoid any holiday upset, it's important to have a breakfast game plan that employs a smart make-ahead strategy. Overnight stratas or breakfast casseroles are a welcome addition to any holiday breakfast table. Quiches, fruit salads, veggies and dips are all things that can be made or assembled the night before to take the stress out of putting together a large meal on a busy morning. I always want some homemade baked goods to round out the meal, and one of my family's favorites is Cranberry Orange Pecan Coffee Cake, which can be made a day or two ahead. Sour cream is the secret to this coffee cake's staying power. It ensures a tender and moist crumb that only gets better the next day. Cranberries and pecans pair beautifully, along 11/2 teaspoons baking with a hint of citrus from fresh orange juice and zest. A generous amount of streusel topping, tender and buttery with brown sugar, cinnamon

1/2 cup (1 stick) cold unsalted butter, cut into small cubes 1 cup roughly chopped pecans

For the cake:

3 cups all-purpose flour soda

1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

3/4 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 cup sugar and more pecans, blankets each bite.

This cake has a little bit of everything you want in a morning treat. It's buttery, sweet (but not too sweet), fruity, slightly tart, crunchy and nutty. Really, it's a party in a pan 11/2 cup sour cream, and certain to give your room temperature day a festive start.

Jones and Kellogg lead MHS over Jefferson 88-30

BY MICHAEL GRIFFITH

Sports@DominionPost.com Through the opening two games of the 2024 season, Morgantown High School duo Sadaya Jones and Kayli Kellogg have combined for 101 points.

Thursday night, Kellogg dropped 31 points and Jones 20, combining for 51 points in a rout of Parkersburg South 95-32. 24 hours later, the returning all-state pair combined for 50 more as the sophomore Kellogg scored 27 against the Cou-23 as MHS defended its home court 88-30.

OUTDOORS

A potential disaster for our West Virginia wild deer herd

In 2005 chronic wasting disease (CWD) first appeared in the eastern panhandle of West Virginia. The DNR stated that "CWC in West Virginia represents a significant threat a deer farm deer tested to the state's white-tailed deer." The DNR knew what to do, but the deer farm industry felt that there was a huge market to sell deer meat in stores, plus lots of jobs would be created if the Department of Agriculture had control. The state legislature bought into that garbage and in 2015 passed a bill giving Agriculture control of deer farms bringing there was no boom in deer farming. No new job market either. The hunting industry warned the legislature, but politics also had CWD. won out. And now it may well hurt the deer and deer hunting that creates 35 or more million in taxes alone and 5,400 jobs. Here's why.

Recent information from the Department of Agriculture stated that positive for CWD. Note under the bill passed in 2015, Agriculture controls both kinds of deer farms; one raises deer to sell, the second are fenced hunting facilities where deer are shot for a fee. The charge is usually based on the size of a buck's antlers. The bigger the buck, the more it costs to "hunt" it (and I use the term "hunt" rather loosely because

Sure enough one had CWD. The information isn't clear, but apparently other deer on that farm

The deer farm was immediately quarantined. In addition, all deer on that farm had to be killed. Then the value for each deer killed is determined and the deer farmer is reimbursed for his loss. Guess who pays for that? A question occurs to me. Was the deer farm double fenced? I ask that because if not, then when one of those CWD urinated or defecated beside the fence, a good rain would wash the deer pellets that contain CWD prions out of the farm fence. If deer farms are double fenced, then that is less likely. I doubt that most deer farms are fenced but couldn't find information on that. If a wild deer outside the fence licks deer feces with prions, it gets CWD. And that would be the beginning of the spread of CWD among the wild deer in that county.

hunting facility in West Virginia before the farm knew they had CWD deer. Had the deer farm known their deer had CWD, selling any was not permitted. A few days after the CWD buck arrived at the hunting facility, it was shot, and it tested positive for CWD. Now one would think that this hunting facility would be quarantined to prevent the spread of CWD to wild deer by the method mentioned in the previous paragraph. But the Department of Agriculture decided that since the deer was only in the hunting facility a few days it was unlikely that it shed any CWD prions in the feces. Really? I'm not sure this logic makes sense.

So there you have it. How did this farm get a CWD positive deer? Good question and I have no answer. Maybe from another

Several things resulted (or didn't result) from that move. First, no meat was sold in stores. At huge prices, no one was going to buy venison, plus half the homes in West Virginia had hunters who got their own venison. Second,

The Mohigans will enjoy the return of two all-state selections from last season in sophomore Kayli Kellogg and senior Sadaya Jones.

Kellogg was named to the Class AAAA firstteam after a breakout freshman season where she averaged 16.2 points, 4.4 rebounds, and 1.7 assists per game. She scored a team-high 19 points in the Mohigans' 54-50 upset of No. 1 George Washington in the state semifinals.

Steelers look to avoid another misstep against Browns, 2 weeks after losing in the snow

Associated Press

PITTSBURGH — The video is still fresh. So is the frustration for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

A chance to take firm control of the AFC North evaporated in the snow in Cleveland two weeks ago, when Jameis Winston and the Browns provided a flash of light in an otherwise dark season by beating Pittsburgh 24-19.

A rematch looms on Sunday at Acrisure Stadium with stakes that feel plenty familiar.

Pittsburgh (9-3) can get closer to locking up the division with a win. The Browns (3-9) can give their stretch run a jolt and sweep their rivals for the first time since 1988 if they can replicate those three spirited hours inside a snow globe that ended with a rare moment of joy.

"Since what year?" said Cleveland wide receiver Elijah Moore when asked about the 36-year drought. "Yeah, we got to change that. We got to break these chains."

Giving thanks locally

To local businesses supporting veterans

Editor, The Dominion Post:

In November we had two important holidays: Veterans Day and Thanksgiving. Both days are to give thanks.

I am a proud Army veteran. In the past 10 years or so, I have received free or discounted food, items or services from numerous organizations in and around Morgantown.

Here is a list of those places where I received free food on Veterans Day:

Applebee's, Texas Roadhouse, Little Caesars, Sheetz, IHOP, Shoney's, Denny's (before closing) and Golden Corral (before closing).

Even more, here is the list of other places that I have patronized that gave me Veteran discounts throughout the years:

Lowe's, Cheat Lake Animal Hospital, Feline Veterinary Care of Morgantown, Hardee's, Goodwill Store, Supercuts, McDonald's (some), Wendy's (some), Full Throttle Auto Spa and AT&T (cellphone service)

All of these organizations are wonderful by providing free items or discounts to Veterans. They thanked me for my military service. Now, it is my turn to thank them for their generosity. Thank you so very much.

To local first responders

Editor, The Dominion Post:

Shout out to all who aided my daughter and me when our vehicle was hit as we attempted to turn left from Beechurst Avenue onto 8th Street on Monday. Passing West Virginia State Trooper Roach stopped immediately to render assistance. Quickly, the MPD, MFD and EMS were summoned. Thankfully, we weren't severely injured.

We were stuck in our car until tow trucks could pull the other vehicle from ours. My daughter (who has special needs) was inconsolably upset. A kind, thoughtful firefighter, Chris DeBerry, stood at her window - the freezing cold - chatting her up until he was successfully able to distract her, which calmed her down considerably. Another firefighter, Derek Porter, and an EMS worker, with last name of Prell, were conscientiously checking to make sure I was OK. Policeman Bernosky was equally solicitous.

Once we exited the vehicle, the owner of the corner vape store, Abdul, offered us water and warm place to stand while awaiting our release to depart.

We could not have been treated with more kindness, respect and caring. We greatly appreciate the efforts of all. If there is anyone I didn't name, please accept our apology. We sincerely appreciated the efforts and decency of all involved.

Additionally, on Wednesday, I was privileged to witness the glorious parade created for the patients of WVUH Children's Hospital during the Christmas tree lighting ceremony by the greater Morgantown community first responders. Seeing all the flashing lights on dozens of police cars and fire trucks was awe-inspiring. Having spent Christmas in a hospital with an acutely ill child 29 years ago, it was spectacular to witness this giant parade of love.

Morgantown should be exceedingly proud of their first responders.

In response to letter

Editor, The Dominion Post: Harry Bailey questioned "What would Trump have had to do for you not to have voted for him?" (DP 12/01/2024). My answer is he would have had to have been a Democrat. My question for Mr. Bailey is, "Why was Trump able to take control of Washington?'

• Trump's attack on Harris' stance on transgenders weakened her attempt to portray herself as a common-sense center-left candidate. Trump modified his stance on abortion by declaring that each state should decide for itself and vowed to veto a national abortion ban. He won 81% of the white evangelical vote.

• Biden's approval rating plunged during his first year in office and never recovered. Public opinion was harshly negative of his inflation and immigration policies. Harris inherited his disapproval. Putting reproductive rights at the center of her agenda did not mobilize an army of angry women to the polls or convince voters that her administration would be sensitive to their concerns. She refused to munications. separate herself from Biden or explain why she abandoned previous positions on crime, immigration, health care and climate change which proved Trump's charge that she was a closet radical.  Voters were driven by their concerns to renew Trump tax cuts, reform the Affordable Care Act, secure the border and reshape the U.S. economy. They believe in Trump's ability to "Make America Great Again" and the philosophy of deliverism. They believe he will govern better than Harris.

On broadband access

Editor, The Dominion Post: Thank you for reporting on efforts to improve internet access in West Virginia (11/30/24 Next Hurdle: Attachments for Poles for Broadband Expansion). It's an issue of special interest in my house, which is too far from currently available poles to connect to any provider except Frontier Com-

This is unfortunate. Frontier charges us for a level of internet that is not actually provided. Their approach to customer service has cost us hours on the phone speaking with people in other countries, just to get a functioning replacement for a broken modem. And a few years back, we endured many weeks of service outages and slowdowns that occurred at the same

We were reminded of those times during this Thanksgiving weekend. It began Thursday morning with a text message from Frontier about an outage in our area. The predicted time for service to be restored was 11:23 — a ridiculously specific number, given that A.M, P.M, or even the date was not mentioned. We received similarly useless texts over the next four days.

Service was finally restored around 10 o'clock Monday morning, too late for us to enjoy holiday programming or virtual get-togethers with distant friends and family. But now I can at least submit this letter. I do so with the hope that our service will improve when Frontier is taken over by Verizon. Or, even better, perhaps an existing utility pole will become available to give us a choice of internet providers.

On Mon County roads

Editor, The Dominion Post: For years, Monongalia County and the surrounding area has been in a feud with Charleston, specifically with WVDOT. It's my thought that this situation is fueled or possibly caused by our soon to be ex-Governor, Mr. Justice.

The citizens of this county have been treated like second-class citizens by the powers that be in Charleston. One only needs to take a drive on any road to view the neglect that has been caused and/or furthered by Charleston. And it goes beyond the debacle of the lack of road surfacing, ditch cleaning and weed and grass mowing. Charleston has kicked the can down the road countless times when counted on to get much needed traffic-related work completed and completed on time in Monongalia County. Which brings me to the point of my letter.

Now that we have a new Governor-elect in Patrick Morrisey, will he step up and stop the foolish antics of WVDOT? He is quoted as saying in an article in the DP Sunday, Nov. 24, paper 'Lights', that "Governor-elect Morrisey has mentioned that he wants to do something significant in this area," referring to Monongalia County. Hopefully, that will include directing the WVDOT to give the county the help that has been (in my opinion) refused and/or ignored by the DOT for years under the pres-

On Mon County roads

Editor, The Dominion Post: During a 2009 meeting with Republicans congressional concerning his economic proposals, President Obama said, 'Elections have consequences, It's a political way for winners to tell losers, 'Tough luck, you lost, get over it.""

That statement seems to be the common way of doing business lately.

Governor-elect Patrick Morrisey won 62% of the vote this past November. Twenty counties gave Morrisey in excess of 70% of the vote. Three counties gave Morrisey less than 50% of the vote. Monongalia County gave Morrisey the smallest percentage of the vote - 45.83% of the votes cast in Monongalia County. And those polling locations physically located within the City of Morgantown provided Morrisey with but 30% of the vote.

I complain all the time about the Department of Highways taking forever to get nothing done. Construction on Van-Voorhis Road will take two construction seasons. An upgrade of Green Bag Road has been discussed for years. Just how long will it take to place a traffic light in front of Panda Express at UTC. And the DOH now seems to be dancing around what improvements will take place at Exit 155 on I-79.

We can no longer blame our legislators or county commissioners for the lack of progress on the roads. We have only ourselves to blame for not backing the winner for governor.

I'm hopeful that Morrisey doesn't believe that Mon County residents should face consequences for their paltry support. I'm hopeful that Morrisey will offer a form of governance which represents all the people.

KATIE McDOWELL What changes, and what doesn't

TALKING WITH MY FATHER ON THE PHONE WHILE ON MY THANKSGIVING HAWAIIAN VACATION, I described an adventure I'd had the night before.

"So, I did this nighttime manta ray snorkel," I said. "You go in the water and they shine bright lights, which attract the plankton. Then, the plankton attract the mantas. You swim and they swirl all around you while you're floating."

There was a notable silence on the other end.

"WHO ARE YOU?" he finally demanded.

"I remember when you called me because there was a bug in your apartment. Now you're swimming with stingrays?'

"Manta," I corrected, so as to be accurate. "Not sting. I promise they were harmless. But yep, I did it and it was pretty awesome."

He remained nonplussed, and it took another beat for him to respond.

'One more thing I never thought my daughter would do in a million years," he replied after his long pause. "My, Kate, you have changed."

And in many ways, he's right.

A few years ago I wouldn't even step foot into a water body, never mind don a mask and breathing tube to commune with sea life.

Heck, just wearing a bathing suit was questionable circa 2019. (Thanks, COVID diet, for turning that one around.)

Since, I've snorkeled in Costa Rica, Mexico and Hawaii, and hope to do it again in lots of other places around the globe. I've climbed a 130-foot ficus tree (harness firmly attached, admittedly), hiked to the top of Angel's Landing, scaled waterfalls and meandered through cave

Granted, I still get anxious beforehand – I mean, I've grown, not had a lobotomy. But each trip I take, I force myself to get out there and do something that scares me.

Characteristically, however, I research each activity to death, to make sure it's eco-friendly and ethical, and, if so, which company ranks highest for sustainability and responsible practices.

It's funny, isn't it, how a person changes, and how they don't, through the vears?

Like, I've long been an introvert. But in midlife, I've veered more toward loner. Having scores of friends was once hugely important to me. These days, I opt for solitude and self-sufficiency.

Along those lines, while I'd previously been intrigued by the idea of traveling solo, I didn't have the guts to try it until my late 40s.

Turns out, just like those manta rays, it's also pretty awesome.

I'm definitely glad I took plunge – both the literal and the metaphorical. For me, there's just no going back.

Incidentally, I did also have an enormous bug in my Airbnb on this trip, and managed to trap it in a glass and send it over the balcony to freedom -- all by myself.

Though I didn't tell my dear old dad that, because I didn't want him to think I'd been replaced altogether by a tropical alien.

But don't you worry, Daddy-o. If my car breaks down on one of my newfound adventures, you'll still be the first person I'll call.

Sure, change is inevitable. But some things have to stay the same.

joy a whimsical experience and appreciate the birthplace of famous Christmas crooner, Dean Martin.

Attendance peaked last season, and the display surpassed 200 statues. This season's 10 new creations are highly anticipated. Teasers include a fairytale princess, a Christmas Story classic and a fully-articulating kung fu king.

Design themes range from movie/pop culture icons to popular occupations, local universities/professional sports teams, religious and holiday figures and admired area personalities, such as Dean Martin himself and the famous Rat Pack. Fan favorites include: The Mouse King, Hermey the Elf, The Wizard of Oz Cast, Charlie Brown and Snoopy, Princess Belle, Audrey Hepburn as Holly Golightly and five different versions of Saint Nicholas from around the world.

Brodie Stutzman, local creator and leader of this community art project, carves each nutcracker himself. They are painted by a variety of area artists, including Therese Nelson, whose family created and operates the village. She also oversees the final touches, as volunteers decorate and accessorize the statues, giving them personality and bringing them to life. These include: handheld props, unique hats, shimmering make-up, sparkly jewelry, silly glasses and much more.

The area transforms into a winter wonderland, with the characters spread around the historic business district, alongside magical holiday decor. On weekends, there will be food trucks, live entertainment and visits from both Saint Nicholas and Santa Claus. Other popular activities include the Advent Market, with gifts from local artisans and crafters, the German Gluhwein Garden, filled with hot mulled wine, cider and local craft beer, Polar Express hayrides, the Library StoryWalk and the Children's Corner.

The village is also proud to announce the return of "The Artistry of the Nativity: The Dvorsky Collection" for the second year. Broadway star George Dvorsky's extensive collection of over 400 crèches from around the world will be showcased in one of the historic 4th Street storefronts with a December 21 Christmas concert at the Renaissance Ballroom from Dvorsky himself. Additional details to follow.

The family gift store - Drosselmeyer's Nutcracker Shoppe – features an extensive array of items for remembrance, from nutcracker ornaments to larger decor and apparel, which are available for purchase on the website as well.

The exhibit is free and open to the public 24 hours a day for self-guided tours. Printable maps can be found in Drosselmeyer's and in boxes around town, and digital maps can be found on the website. All of the nutcrackers will be numbered from 1-215 for easy navigation. and event organizer. "We set a Trust.

Pets are also welcome but must standard for ourselves that be crowd-friendly and kept on a leash.

The village was created in 2015 by Mark and Gretchen Nelson as an effort to revitalize downtown Steubenville and bring the community together. Mark, a woodworker and owner of Nelson Enterprises, oversaw the creation of 50 life-size nutcrackers in year one, the first being "Junior" – a traditional red and gold statue. The 10 Nelson children are actively involved, and the family has expanded the art project by exhibiting displays during the Easter and summer seasons.

"As we look back on the last nine years, it would be impossible to replicate the fun we had putting together the Steubenville Nutcracker Village for the first time. There's an initial energy and excitement with an unknown outcome - but to have it received with utter joy and enthusiasm is still an inspiring memory for each of us," said Therese Nelson, lead designer by the Steubenville Cultural year, but it now requires much more work to recreate a festival annually that meets our expectations and those of the community. We started out on this adventure with a goal to bring hope to our city, and we still believe that the work is worth it."

For additional information, including the daily schedule of activities and events, visit https://www.steubenvillenutcrackervillage.com/. Information is also included for individuals or businesses interested in making a donation or becoming a sponsor of an activity, display or nutcracker.

Donations are accepted via the website and at boxes throughout the downtown area to continue the tradition, as well as keep the nutcrackers stored and in excellent condition. All donations are tax deductible.

Negativity can become a toxic killer of peace

THERE IS SO MUCH BEAUTY AND JOY ATTACHED TO THIS HOLIDAY SEASON. WATCHING THE AN-TICIPATION OF YOUNG CHILDREN AS THEY COUNT DOWN THE DAYS UNTIL SANTA'S ARRIVAL IS ONE OF THE DELIGHTS OF THE CHRISTMAS SEASON. BEYOND CHILDHOOD THE HOLIDAY SEASON CAN BE TAXING AS WELL AS JOY-FUL. THE TO-DO LIST EXPANDS, DEVOURING OUR TIME AND ENERGY.

During this busy time, when we are trying to keep our high spirits at the forefront, we may become vulnerable to negative thinking, especially if that negativity comes from those close to us. It's hard enough to engage with negative people during the rest of the year. During times of upheaval or high holidays or other events that tax our strength and energy, it's important for our inner peace and contentment to guard against the toxic effects of whatever negative people may enter our lives during such times.

When negativity morphs into a habit it can become toxic. When we engage with habitually negative people on a daily basis it can put us on a roller coaster: one day they may be relaxed and satisfied, but the next day their negativity opens its claws at us, snatching away our contentment and peace. I suspect most of us don't live with habitually negative people, but we do encounter them now and then, mostly during family visits and holiday gatherings.

Negativity can be a dark cloud that invades our space, our mind and our spirit. We are the guardians of our inner peace. We need to chase that cloud away now, before it can ruin the sparkle and peace of the coming holidays. Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Day are times for families and also friends to gather together, sometimes for a day or evening and sometimes for a longer stay. Our homes should be havens for our families, no matter how closely located or how scattered they are. Having to deal with someone who constantly points out the negative, especially during this busy time, can dump a load of stress on us, ruining the peace and joy of the holiday season.

Much of the time negative people see themselves as stoic or grounded in reality. Some convince themselves they are only being realistic in pointing out the negative side of every situation. They are only giving us a reality check. After 8 decades of living I have come up with my own reality check: Life is a mixture of darkness and light. We strive to find the strength to navigate through the dark times with hope and tenacity. When the good times come, we dance in the light.

Negative people are not always aware of their own negativity. Perhaps they came from a family that always looked on the dark side. Children easily pick up on the way their parents respond to life, to problems and situations. Perhaps something in their adult lives pushed them into habitual negative thinking. Truly, there is no way to "fix" another person. We can't expect change in anyone (including ourselves) until that person is clearly ready to change. Probably the best way to shield ourselves and our homes from the toxic behavior of negative people during this busy holiday season when visits are more frequent, is to set boundaries. Set them early and make sure they are respected. The negative people in our lives still deserve the respect and perhaps even all the love we can give them. Respectfully setting boundaries for the sake of peace is an act of love, especially for families. It helps protect the holidays and other good times we spend together.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You'll make quite an impression by being true to yourself. You come across as unselfconscious yet thoughtful, striking a rare combination. TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Instead of analyzing every detail of a relationship, you'll rise above it and gain a clearer view.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You'd rather get an honest, uncomfortable truth than a sweet-sounding lie that fades with time. Truth might be hard to swallow at first.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The current environment is teaching you, but memories can teach you even more if you let them because to some extent you are reenacting a pattern.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You hold back just enough to inspire the other person to reach out, which works time and again. Plan for a big gesture of surprise generosity soon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Do what you want, not what they want. Even if it's the same thing, intention matters. It will go right if you're doing it for yourself ..

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Trust your instincts -- when your gut says "no," respect that boundary. It's possible to stay open to life's opportunities without saying "yes" to every single one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You've been industrious, and now it's time to let your mind unwind. Lounge with intention. Let yourself recharge fully.

2024 MBOR Award Recipients

I'M REFLECTING ON ALL MBOR HAS ACCOMPLISHED THIS YEAR. I've previously told vou about fundraising and food drives. I've told you our 400+ members, are embedded in the community and I also told you about landmark changes to our industry.

This week, we held our Holiday Luncheon where I was honored to present awards. I did not take this lightly when selecting the recipients. Without further ado, here are the 2024 award recipients.

Although it was not one of our previously established awards, I wanted to present a token of appreciation to '23 MBOR President, Eve Leombruno. She set me up for success through one-on-one meetings as I started my year in '24. Thank you, Eve!

The Rising Star Award was presented to Treasurer, Brenda Page. While Brenda is not a new Realtor, she was new to the Board of Directors, and she aided me at strategic times. She gave me the necessary assurance on critical issues when tough behind-the-scenes deci sions had to be made.

The Heart Award -Stephanie Lemley is one of my predecessors as President, served in this role during the difficult COVID era and did so for two years due to that circumstance. In the spirit of full disclosure, Stephanie happens to be my Broker but the reason I selected her for the Heart Award is due to her mentorship spirit. She enlightened me on critical issues early on, which was invaluable in my presidency. President's Award - Emily Cole came aboard as our new Executive Officer several months ago but wasted no time, in making my job as President so much easier. Thank you for your initiative on various fronts, Emily! Outstanding Achievement Award - consideration for this award actually goes back years. Steve Walker has been a Broker / Owner for a long time, and he's also a former MBOR President. What truly caught my attention this year, however, is as we were going through challenges in our industry on a national level, he stepped up to provide sage wisdom and guidance in private meetings for our local Brokers, but also in an open session to our full membership. Thank you for sharing your expert knowledge and experience for the betterment of MBOR, Steve!

Realtor of the Year -Jenn Haggerty previously served on our Board of Directors. She's an elected member of the Mon County Board of Education and in an entrepreneurial venture is part owner of a new brokerage. After urging from our nominating committee, she agreed to run for President-Elect and as a result of winning, will serve as the 2026 MBOR President.

I want to thank our MBOR Committee for producing our luncheon this week. Behind their leadership, we not only enjoyed food and fellowship with each other, but we collected toys which 'Christian Help' will distribute to both Mon and Preston counties. I also want to throw a quick shout out to 'Country Roads Moving' for transporting those donated toys after the event.

Next week, I'll tell you about our final charitable event of the year!

Saffron has been worth its weight in gold, or even more!

There's nothing like a hot drink on a cold day! How about a classic hot chocolate? Spiced apple cider? Maybe a warm cup of freshly steeped saffron? That last one might sound odd to us, but it's a popular drink across many cultures and has been for giftware, some of which hundreds of years.

Saffron, a spice made from the stigma of a type of crocus, has been prized for its flavor, color, fragrance and purported health benefits since antiquity. Throughout the long history of its use, saffron has always been, and still is, expensive. At some points in history, it has been worth its weight in gold, or even more!

We may see better prices, more inventory in the 2025 real estate market

BY ABIGAIL HASEBROOCK South Florida Sun Sentinel (TNS)

Whether you're a renter, homeowner or potential buyer in South Florida, the new year may present you with some favorable changes in the housing market, according to real estate experts.

This could include better prices in 2025, as well as more options to choose from when deciding where to live, whether that's renting an apartment or buying a house.

Realtor commission changes are here: What they mean for homebuyers and sellers

BY JEFF OSTROWSKI Bankrate.com (TNS)

The National Association of Realtors (NAR) agreed to new rules around real estate commissions as part of a lawsuit settlement in March. As of August 17, they're actually rolling out — and consumers face a deluge of confusion and conflicting predictions.

One narrative predicts a coming utopia for homebuyers: A price war will erupt, and commissions will plunge amid a home sellers) may no lonnew wave of competition among buyers' agents. A competing narrative goes agents on any NAR-affiliin the opposite direction: ated multiple listing ser-Under the new commission structure, buyers will realize they're on the hook for thousands and decide not to use agents at all. NAR, meanwhile, has portrayed the changes as that client a house. Unminor tweaks rather than a major shift.

The opposing narratives underscore just how complex Realtor compensation has always been — and how much more complex it just got. Here's a look at the new commission structure and what it could mean for both homebuyers and sellers.

How real estate commissions used to work

Traditionally, when a home seller hired a real estate agent to represent their listing, the seller agreed to pay a commission. The national average has been about 5% of the home's sale price, typically split down the middle with 2.5% going to the listing agent and the other 2.5% to the buyer's agent. What's changing?

The biggest change is that listing agents (the who represent agents ger make offers of compensation to buy-side vice (MLS). In addition, a buyer's agent must now have a written contract with a home shopper, clearly specifying their fee, before they may show til now, NAR encouraged but didn't require written agreements between buyside agents and buvers.

Spirit Airlines, the largest budget carrier in the U.S., filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection in November. The airline said customers should not see any disruption to their travel plans while the process unfolds.

The filing followed years of struggles for the Florida-based airline, which is known for its no-frills, low-cost flights. The bankruptcy proceedings are aimed at restructuring the company and shoring up its finances. Still, unease around the bankruptcy petition may have some travelers looking elsewhere for flights.

Here's what you need to know.

Will the Unaple. my booking or loyalty Will the Chapter 11 affect points with Spirit? For now, it's business as usual. Spirit says it expects to continue operating normally throughout the travelers can continue making reservations and taking flights without interruptions.

All existing tickets, credits and loyalty points remain valid, as do the airline's affiliated credit cards and other membership perks, the company said.

What other airlines offer 3 What other amount any budget fares? Spirit may still be the biggest discount airline in the U.S., but it faces more competition. The company recorded much of its recent losses as more and more rival carriers began offering their own versions of low cost, no-frills tickets.

Some of Spirit's biggest competitors are other budget airlines, like Frontier, which tried to merge with Spirit. JetBlue and Spirit abandoned their proposed combination this year after a federal judge sided with the Justice Department in its lawsuit to block the $3.8 billion deal, arguing that it would drive up prices for consumers who depend on low fares.

Major carriers also offer competitive, tiered pricing today. Southwest's "Wanna Get Away" fares and the Basic Economy options offered by United and Delta, for example, have become popular with budget-conscious travelers.

Lucy Worsley of "Lucy Worsley's Holmes vs. Doyle"

Television presenter and Historic Royal Palaces' chief curator Lucy Worsley dives deep into the parallel lives of Doyle and Holmes in the historical context of their times in "Lucy Worsley's Holmes vs. Doyle," premiering Sunday, Dec. 8, on PBS. Split into three hour-long episodes to be released weekly, Worsley uncovers the truth behind why the author, who turned to spiritualism in later life, often showed disdain for his own creation. Stranger than fiction

Author's complicated relationship with creation unpacked in 'Holmes vs. Doyle'

By Dana Simpson TV Media

hick tweed fabrics, cozy closed-door home libraries and leather-bound books are all trending on social media this winter. The aesthetic --- now of-ten referred to as "dark academia" - hearkens back to a simpler time, one in which low lighting, wingback chairs and rich, luscious textiles are key for setting the mood. Some might say that the only thing missing is a deerstalker cap and a good mystery novel — and they would be right.

Fictional detective Sherlock Holmes has undoubtedly had an impact on the readers of the world (and in the realms of fashion and home decor, too, it would seem), but perhaps no one has been more affected by the sleuth than his own author, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle.

In the new, three-part docuseries "Lucy Worsley's Holmes vs. Doyle," the titular television host does some investigating of her own, uncovering how the lives of the man and his most popular creation came to echo one another in an uncanny harmony, often to the author's detriment. The series begins Sunday, Dec. 8, on PBS, and airs hour-long episodes weekly until its Dec. 22 finale.

Throughout his 137 years on the page, Sherlock Holmes has solved 60 separate cases across 56 short stories and four novels, but the biggest mystery of them all has been lying just beneath the surface of the fiction. For years, it appeared that Doyle a private detective in his own right — despised his most prized creation, but why he grew to dislike the fictional character was never quite clear ... until now.

In the first episode of PBS's "Holmes vs. Doyle," Worsley travels back in time to the British author's not-so-humble beginnings as a medical student in the lowland Scottish city of Edinburgh before diving into the cultural movements of the Victorian era in what is now the United Kingdom.

"In Episode 1, 'Doctor and Detective' (Dec. 8), [Worsley] ... unpacks the early stories, revealing the dark underbelly of late Victorian Britain, from drug use to true crime," the official PBS news release reads. "She explores how Doyle infused his stories with cutting-edge technological developments and traces the author's growing disenchantment with his detective, heading to Switzerland to visit the site of one of the most famous deaths in literature."

Moving through Dovle's life and ever-growing oeuvre, Episode 2, titled "Fact and Fiction" (Dec. 15), is heavily based upon the writer's decision to kill off his beloved case cracker in his 1893 work "The Final Problem," set two years earlier, in 1891.

[Worsley] explores Doyle's desire to distance himself from Sherlock after the detective's apparent death at the Reichenbach Falls." the description reads.

"From the delights of the ski slopes to the horrors of the Boer War, she reveals how far Doyle went to make himself the hero of his own story. He even took on the role of detective himself in one of the most important legal cases of the 20th century."

By the time viewers arrive at the conclusion of the PBS docuseries, Worsley investigates the parallel timelines of both author and authored. By analyzing Doyle's decision to bring his most iconic character back from the dead, the presenter illustrates where Doyle's and Holmes' personalities, decisions and life events began to converge before dovetailing, ultimately resulting in the character eclipsing the now-aging crime novelist.

"In the finale, 'Shadows and Sleuths' (Dec. 22), [Worsley] investigates the return of Sherlock," says PBS. "Doyle began the Edwardian age delighting in all it had to offer, but as [World War I] approached, the darkness of the later stories mirrored the reality of Doyle's life. After losing his eldest son, he became an evangelist for spiritualism, and his star declined after a public spat with a famous magician.

"Sherlock Holmes, in contrast, found a life beyond his author on stage and screen."

According to writer and editor Ronald B. De Waal in his 1995 four-volume compilation titled "The Universal Sherlock Holmes," the character has now been adapted into more than 25,000 forms, including works translated into 63 languages worldwide. From the written form to visual mediums such as film and television. Holmes' reach extends far beyond that of the vast majority of living (or once living) people, something which continued to baffle Doyle long into his life and career.

"The curious thing is," Doyle mused aloud to a camera in a 1928 interview with William Fox, "how many people around the world who are perfectly convinced that he is a living human being.

"I get letters addressed to him. I get letters asking for his autograph. I get letters addressed to his other stupid friend, Watson," Doyle chuckles with a glimmer in his eye. "I even had ladies writing that they would be glad to act as his housekeeper." (The latter portion being a clear, if moderately bemusina, sign of the times.)

And while this notable interview is available on YouTube for those who wish to seek it out, Sherlock Holmes fans truly need look no further than Worsley and her in-depth research. A self-proclaimed lifelong fan of Holmes in her own right and Doyle, of course, by extension -Worsley "explores the parallel lives of Doyle and Holmes in the historical context of their times" (PBS). Put on your deerstalker and pull out your own magnifying glass to inspect those local listings, because "Lucy Worslev's Holmes vs. Doyle" premieres Sunday, Dec. 8, on PBS.

A Ray Holiday

Rachael Ray cooks up Christmas cheer in new series

Rachael Ray hosts "Rachael Ray's Holidays"

By Caroline Collacutt TV Media

A television personality, businesswoman, celebrity cook, philanthropist and author, Rachael Ray makes the holiday season that much homier during her brand-new series, "Rachael Ray's Holidays," making its debut with two episodes airing back-to-back Sunday, Dec. 8, on A&E.

Airing as part of the Home.Made.Nation lifestyle programming block, this series "invites viewers into Rachael's home as she prepares unique dishes perfect for celebrating the holidays with family and friends," says A&E's description. It continues: "Rachael loves to cook and entertain, but especially during the holiday season when friends and family gather to celebrate. In each half-hour episode, 'Rachael Ray's Holidays' brings viewers into Rachael's kitchen as she shares some of her favorite holiday dishes."

Known for her bubbly personality on the "Rachael Ray" talk show, Ray is also renowned for her delicious recipes — most found in her countless cookbooks, released over the past two decades. Now, Ray shares her top dishes for a festive feast, walking guests through the steps as she makes everything from "chestnut and sausage stuffing and roasted garlic and rosemary prime rib to beef and chorizo chili with queso and holiday lasagna" (per A&E).

"Cooking and entertaining are both central parts of my life, but around the holidays, it takes on an especially significant role for myself, my family and many others," says Ray. "It's a time where we all gather to celebrate, and the joy of food and cooking is so unifying, so I'm especially excited to invite audiences into my home to share the familial traditions and recipes that make this time so meaningful."

In addition to this mouth-watering endeavor, "Rachael Ray's Rebuild" — which aired on Hulu in 2023 — will now make its network debut on A&E, following Ray and her team as they assist families working to rebuild their homes and their lives after the shock of a natural disaster. This second series is one Ray considers personal, as her own home was destroyed by a fire in August 2020 — meaning she has plenty of experience to share both in the kitchen and out.

Produced by Free Food Studios for A&E Network, "Rachael Ray's Holidays" begins Sunday, Dec. 8, on A&E.

"Elton John: Never Too Late" (2024)The story of a living legend comes to Disney+ when the documentary "Elton John: Never Too Late" debuts Friday, Dec. 13. Taking a look back at Elton John's impressive 50-year career — from his early hits such as "Your Song" and "Tiny Dancer" to newer releases such as "Wonderful Crazy Night" — this emotionally charged biography of the artist sees him prepare for his final concert in North America at Dodger Stadium, taking him back to the same arena he played during the height of his fame in 1975. Growing from a musically gifted young boy in a strict household, to a young artist who grappled with adversity, abuse and addiction, to the inspiring icon he is today, Elton brings viewers along for his journey as he recounts stories from the past five decades - encompassing both his impressive highs to his devastating lows. Also featuring a brand-new song from Elton John, "Never Too Late" is codirected by R.J. Cutler ("Martha," 2024) and Elton's husband, David Furnish ("Rocketman," 2019), who produce alongside Trevor Smith ("Billie Eilish: The World's a Little Blurry," 2021) and co-producer Ryan Gallagher ("Dear..."). The executive producing team includes John Battsek ("Wham!," 2023),

"Dream Productions"

Get an inside look into the emotions that make our dreams a reality when the new miniseries "Dream Productions" premieres Wednesday, Dec. 11, on Disney+. Set between the events of the 2015 animated family film "Inside Out" and its 2024 sequel, "Inside Out 2," the series takes audiences into "the studio inside Riley's mind where dreams really do come true — every night, on time and on budget" (per Disney+). Doing their best to help Riley process the complicated emotions that come along with growing up, Joy (Amy Poehler, "Parks and Recreation") and the rest of Riley's Core Emotions work to get Dream Productions to pump out the best dreams possible. Meanwhile, "acclaimed director Paula Persimmon [voiced by Paula Pell, 'A.P. Bio'] faces a nightmare of her own: trying to create the next hit dream after being paired up with Xeni [voiced by Richard Ayoade, 'Krapopolis'], a smug daydream director looking to step up into the big leagues of night dreams" (Disney+). Directed and written by Mike Jones ("Soul," 2020), "Dream Productions" also voice stars Maya Rudolph ("Loot") as Jean, Ally Maki ("Hit-Monkey") as Janelle, Kensington Tallman ("Home Sweet Rome!") as Riley. Liza Lapira ("The Equalizer") as Disgust, Tony Hale ("Arrested Development") as Fear, Lewis Black ("Scooby-Doo! Mystery Incorporated") as Anger and Phyllis Smith ("The Office") as Sadness.

"The Simpsons Funday Football"

In an epic co-production between EPSN, Disney, "The Simpsons" and the National Football League, "The Simpsons Funday Football" airs Monday, Dec. 9, on Disney+, as well as on ESPN+ and on mobile with NFL+. In a special broadcast of an NFL game between the Cincinnati Bengals at the Dallas Cowboys, "Funday Football," airing for the second year in a row, brings the real-life action into an animated stadium — this time, Atoms Stadium in Springfield, in the world of "The Simpsons." Using Sony's Bevond Sports Technology, the game features a motion-enabled, animated version of each player, using state-of-the-art tracking technology to translate the real game into animation in real time. Alongside the game, the broadcast features classic "Simpsons" characters and voice actors, bringing additional fun and humor to every moment. Appearing as animated versions of themselves. ESPN's Mina Kimes and Dan Orlovsky (both of "NFL Live") will provide football strategy discussion, with Drew Carter ("NFL on FOX") calling the game action.

"Sugarcane" (2024) The feature directorial debut for TIME100 Next honoree Julian Brave NoiseCat and Emily Kassie ("Anatomy of Hate," 2020), the tributary documentary "Sugarcane" comes to Hulu this Tuesday, Dec. 10. After 160 years of forced assimilation. Indian residential schools in Canada — run by the Catholic Church — finally closed their doors in 1996, leaving behind a dark history of child abuse. Removed from their homes against their will and made to abandon their traditions, cultural practices and languages, some of these stolen children eventually found their way home after experiencing years of trauma inside these institutions. However, countless others did not. In 2021, evidence of unmarked graves was found at one school location, leading to an investigation that unearthed similar sites across the country. Set amidst a groundbreaking and heartbreaking investigation, "Sugarcane" sheds a light on the Indigenous communities working to break cycles caused by intergenerational trauma, showcasing strength and perseverance in equal measure. With at least 150,000 children passing through their doors (per the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation), residential schools have left an ever-lasting mark on the Canadian landscape, one NoiseCat and Kassie hope to further unravel. A Kassie Films and

"A Sudden Case of Christmas" (2024)

Directed by Peter Chelsom ("The Space Between Us," 2017), the English-language adaptation of the 2022 Italian film, "Improvvisamente Natale" — this time, called "A Sudden Case of Christmas" — makes its debut this Friday, Dec. 13, on Hulu. With an all-star cast including Danny DeVito ("It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia"), Lucy DeVito ("Deadbeat"), Andie MacDowell ("Groundhog Day," 1993) and Adrian Dunbar ("The Crying Game," 1992), this comedic and fun-loving film follows an American couple to a Italy. While there, they plan to visit their grandfather (DeVito) at their family-owned hotel, and tell their 10-year-old daughter Claire (Antonella Rose, "Fear the Walking Dead") that they are separating. Despite it being August, Claire then asks if her family can celebrate one last Christmas together, leading to a holiday unlike any other. Written by Chelsom alongside Tinker Lindsay ("Hector and the Search for Happiness, " 2014), "A Sudden Case of Christmas" also stars Luca Bagnoli ("Trench," 2024), Valeria Cavalli ("Double Team," 1997), Denis Conway ("Brooklyn," 2015), Leo Ferrari ("Those About to Die") and Roderick Hill ("Nyersanyag," 2024).

"The Bravest Knight" – Season 2, Part 1

Be brave, be bold and adventure forth. "The Bravest Knight" returns for its second season, with brandnew episodes premiering on Hulu this Friday, Dec. 13. From creator Daniel Errico ("Rosaline," 2016), this family-friendly animated series delves into the tales told by a father to his young daughter. Once a pumpkin farmer, Cedric explains how he became the world's greatest night to 10-year-old Nia, using his own trials, tribulations and triumphs to teach Nia (a "not-yet-knight") that knighthood is about far more than just slaying dragons — it's about courage, acceptance, understanding and adventure. Produced by Big Bad Boo Studios, this Hulu original children's series features the voice acting talents of T.R. Knight ("The Flight Attendant") as adult Cedric, Bobby Moynihan ("Saturday Night Live") as Grunt, Millie Davis ("Galapagos X") as Nia, Wilson Cruz ("Star Trek: Discovery") as Prince Andrew, Nia's other father, and more, including some newcomers for Season 2: Jane Lynch ("Glee") as Lug Lug, the vegetarian ogre; and Alan Cumming ("The Tiny Chef Show"), who voices the scheming Sheriff Reginald.

Q: In "Hell's Kitchen" episodes, why does Gordon Ramsay slice steaks before serving them? I've never been served a pre-sliced steak in any restaurant. He also doesn't let the steak rest after cooking, yet he berates chefs for doing the same thing in his other shows.

A: Celebrity chef Gordon Ramsay, star of such reality hits as "Hell's Kitchen" and "MasterChef," is pretty precious about how steak should be prepared and served. It's one of the things he's known for, along with creative insults and the white chef's jacket.

He even has a list of 10 tips for how to cook "the perfect steak" posted on his YouTube channel, and No. 8 is not slicing it too thinly — keeping it at least a half-centimeter thick keeps it moist and "maximizes the flavor." the chef will slice it before serving. And while you're right that that's still not the standard in most restaurants that serve steak, a search of some food blogs and forums suggests that this is the current trend at "fancy" restaurants. And that is, of course, the aesthetic that Ramsay goes for — the other thing he's known for is his incredibly expensive, Michelin star-winning restaurants.

As for not letting them rest, that is most likely just a problem with the TV format. You're right that he insists on it from his chefs — "let it rest" is also tip No. 7 on the aforementioned steak list — but it makes for bad television.

Ramsay's shows are supposed to create the high-pressure atmosphere of a restaurant kitchen, and so the cuts are quick and the cameras are often moving to give a sense of urgency. All of that would be undone if they had to also show a steak resting. Q: Is there any chance that the actor who played Cliff on the original "Matlock" will return on the reboot? I always liked his character.

A: On TV anything's possible, but in the cast of CBS's new "Matlock" reboot, an appearance by actor Daniel Roebuck ("Crust," 2024) would be tricky, at least. And a revival of his character, private investigator Cliff Lewis, would be pretty close to impossible.

That's because the new version of "Matlock," starring Kathy Bates ("Misery," 1990) in the title role, isn't actually a continuation of the story. In this show, Bates' character calls herself Matty Matlock as a reference to the original show — her character watched the show and used it as inspiration.

This is where it gets really complicated, because that means Roebuck's character, Cliff, is a fictional character within the world of this new series.

Of course, there's still the pos-
